16 Men Nabbed At Cards

North Main Games Stopped

Sixteen men arrested last night in two police raids on "small time" gambling joints on North Main street were fined or forfeited bonds totaling $420 in municipal court today.

Observers termed the crackdowns as "token raids" resulting from local pressure on official "winking" at big time gambling activities in Mansfield.

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab declined to comment on the raids. When asked whether the raids indicated a change in policy toward organized gambling, he answered "no comment."

The two police raids occurred simultaneously. One group led by Lieut. William J. Taylor converged on the Lucky Billiards hall, 186 North Main street at 10:30 p. m. where nine men were arrested. Three patrolmen raided Ray Shaban's pool room at 224 North Main street where six men were picked up.

TWO FINED $100

Tefik Hysen, 238 North Main street, arrested at Shaban's place and John DaDalis, 454 Springmill street, picked up at Lucky Billiards were each fined $100 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of being a keeper of a gambling place.

Fined $10 and costs on guilty pleas to gambling charges were Albert Abbjee, Club hotel; Willard Starkey, Mansfield; Dominic Valerio, 96 East Sixth street; Artis Defoor, 224 North Main street; Alfred Lee Jones, rear 276 North Franklin avenue, and Howard Clay, 224 North Diamond street.

Walter W. Truman, 85 East Sixth street, identified by police as the dealer at the Lucky Billiards game and Chester Hazel, 561 Lily street, the dealer at Shaban's place each were fined $25 and costs on gambling charges.

Dwight S. Morgan, 119 West Sixth street; Earl C. Senff, 286 Wayne street; Andrew T. Mitts, Mansfield; and John Symsick, 213 Coul street, forfeited $25 bonds on gambling charges. They failed to appear to answer the charges.

Charles James, 223 North Adams street and Dempsey Johnson, 113 North Main street, were fined $5 and costs for loitering.

$2 IN POT

Police testimony revealed that there was $2 in the "pot" at the Lucky Billiards hall game and $11.40 at the game at 224 North Main street.

Last night's raids were apparently not part of any sweeping crackdown on gambling. Punchboards were still in evidence this

Truman Will Air Program

WASHINGTON —(UP)— President Truman will present his legislative program to the special session of Congress in person at 11 a. m. (EST) next Tuesday.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said today the President will deliver his message to a joint session of the House and Senate on the second day of the special session.

The timing of his appearance was worked out in consultation with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders.

At the same time, Ross told reporters that Mr. Truman would not ask Congress "to go off on any wild goose chase."

"Obviously he is not asking Congress to enact the Republican platform," Ross said. But he said that as "a matter of fact," several proposals which the President will make to the special session are included in the Democratic platform for 1948.

MUNICIPAL FUNDS SHORT

WARREN—(AP)—City employes will face two "payless" paydays here this year unless Warren "gets some help from the state," Frank Fabrizio, chairman of city council's finance committee, warned today.

12 U. S. Top Reds Indicted

NEW YORK — (AP) — Twelve communist leaders, representing the party's high command in America, were under indictment today on charges of advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Seven of the 12—including William Z. Foster, national chairman of the party in the United States, and Eugene V. Dennis, general secretary — were arrested last night shortly after their indictment by a federal grand jury investigating subversive activities. The other five are being sought.

The arrests, one of the sharpest blows yet struck against organized communism in this country, brought an immediate, strongly-worded protest from national headquarters of the party.

It described the indictments as a "monstrous frame-up" and said the arrests were part of a plan by President Truman to embarrass the New party of Henry A. Wallace.

Foster and the others indicted are specifically accused of "conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence.

SEVEN DENY GUILT

The seven under arrest were arraigned last night on the charges and all pleaded innocent.

In addition to Foster and Dennis those under arrest are:

New York City Councilman Benjamin Davis, John B. Williamson, Trade union secretary for the party; Henry Winston, party organizational secretary; Jacob Stachel, educational secretary for the party, and Carl Winters, chairman of the Michigan state council of the party.

Winters was seized in Detroit; the others in New York City.

The five being sought were identified as:

Indicted Red Defended By Lawyer Lamb

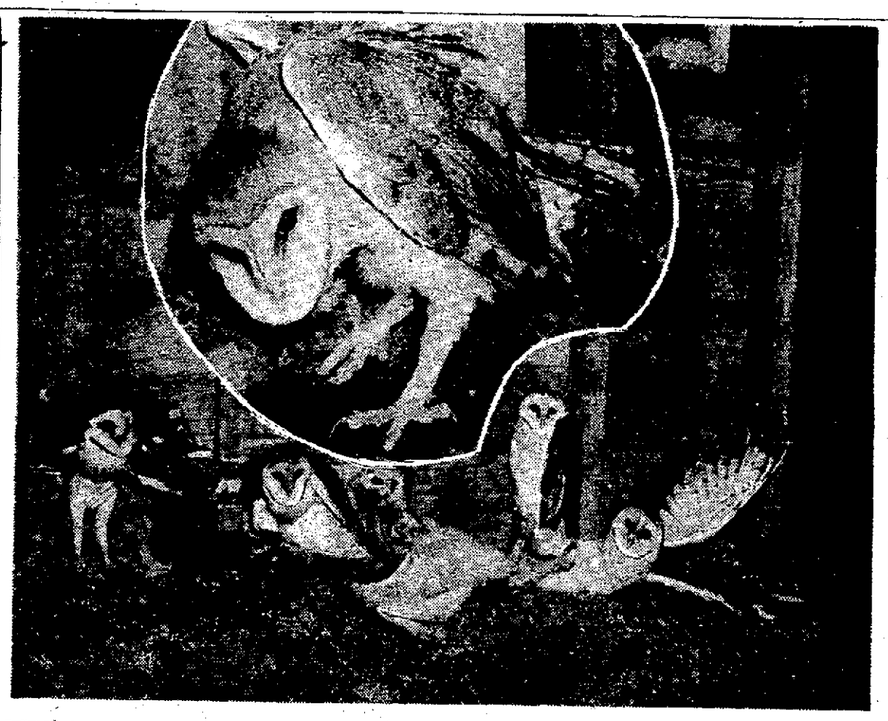
Gus Hall of Cleveland, chairman of the Ohio Communist party and one of 12 communist party leaders named in federal indictments, was one of seven men defended by Toledo Lawyer Edward Lamb in criminal proceedings resulting from the bloody "Little Steel" strike in Warren, O., in 1937.

The Atty. Edward Lamb who appeared as counsel for Gus Hall when the Ohio communist leader pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing explosives during the steel strike in Warren is the same Edward Lamb who received and then surrendered a license to operate a radio station in Mansfield.

He is the same Toledo lawyer whose receipt of five radio licenses in two weeks from the Federal Communications commission resulted in disclosure by the News-Journal which figured prominently in action by Congress, which now has under way an investigation of the FCC and its licensing practices.

Testimony was presented before the Dies committee in 1938 that Hall directed the Warren steel strike, that he usurped authority of the police, stopped the U. S. mails and gave orders to dynamite squads, according to a New York dispatch from International News Service.

Lamb, then listed as attorney for the CIO, defended Hall and seven others in the criminal proceedings in Trumbull county (Warren)common pleas court. Hall was fined $500, four others were sentenced to prison, and three others were placed on probation after all pleaded guilty to charges growing out of strike disorders.



TURN OFF THE LIGHTS, PLEASE—Five baby owls being raised to adult owlhood in a grain elevator at Lexington show evidence of being disturbed by the flash of the photographer's bulb. The family nest was discovered while the new arrivals were in the egg-stage by George Streby, maintenance foreman at the Soy Products company. He guarded them in their home nearly 100 feet above ground, with the help of Mama and Papa Owl. Two other youngsters in the group of seven owlets did not appear for the family photo. Inset shows a close-up of one of owls. They are of the breed known as "monkey-faced."

Court Skips Wallace Ban

Delays Action On Ballot Issue

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Ohio Supreme court failed to rule today on a mandamus action which seeks to compel Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel to place the name of Henry A. Wallace on the Ohio ballot as a presidential candidate in November.

Failure of the court to hand down a ruling on its weekly decision day ended the necessity for action by Governor Herbert on the Wallace question.

A source close to the governor had indicated the chief executive might have the law changed at tomorrow's special session of the legislature if the high court ruled against the third party candidate.

Meanwhile, in Philadelphia, platform makers of Wallace's third party took the spotlight today in a prelude to the opening Friday night of the new political organization's "people's" convention.

Open hearings on the platform were to be held tonight and tomorrow at convention hall by a 53-member resolutions committee headed by Rexford G. Tugwell, University of Chicago professor and a former New Deal "braintruster."

Youth Loses Death Plea

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Death in the electric chair was decreed by the Ohio Supreme court today for Donald E. Frohner, teen-aged hitch-hike slayer of Youngstown.

The court affirmed Frohner's conviction in Mahoning county courts and fixed Aug. 20 as the date of his execution.

Frohner, then 16, and 17-year-old Arthur N. Chapman, classmates at Youngstown South High school, were found guilty of beating to death Wlliam C. Speeth on Route 62 near Youngstown while attempting to steal his auto.

The two boys were found guilty by a three-judge court which ruled that Frohner had delivered the death blows. Chapman, who was extended mercy, was given a life term.

Frohner's attorneys appealed on the ground he was too young to know the implication of waiving a trial by jury.

King Cobra Kills Owner

LONG BEACH, Cal.—(INS)—The "snake woman", who had favorite names for each of her hundreds of reptiles, is dead today, victim of one of her pets.

Before the horrified eyes of two spectators 58-year-old Grace Wiley was bitten late yesterday by her prize possession—a king cobra.

The woman, who made a small fortune in renting her pets to Hollywood film studios, died minutes later at a hospital.

Fellow Officers Seek Salary Hike

City Patrolman Quits For Higher Pay Job

A city policeman resigned today to take what he called "a better job with more pay." His resignation came at a time that other members of the police force are planning to carry before the people in November election their plea for a pay increase.

Patrolman Arlo Garver, of 20 North Glenn avenue, a city policeman since May 1946, submitted his resignation, effective Aug. 16.

ARLO GARVER

Garver, assigned to the traffic department, declined to say just what his new job would be. "I will remain in Mansfield, however," he said.

Earl Garrison, director of public safety, said the vacancy would be filled from a list of eligible applicants approved by the Civil Service commission. Tom Woodard, chairman of the commission, said examinations would not be necessary since there were sufficient eligible men on the list.

ESCAPED DEATH

Garver won high praise from his superior officers for his behavior during a shooting incident Dec. 28, 1947, when Dominic Sgambellone fired at him from point-blank range after calling the officer to his auto. Garver's life was saved when the assailant's pistol misfired.

Garver shot from an awkward position, hitting Sgambellone three times. The patrolman then arrested Sgambellone and took him to the station.

Sgambellone pleaded guilty in Common Pleas court Jan. 28, to assault with intent to kill and was sentenced to one to 15 years in the penitentiary.

Garver was born in Lexington, but had lived in Mansfield for 13 years. He attended Mansfield High school.

He was in the Army for three and one-half years, two and one-half of which were spent overseas with the 82nd airborne division. He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Fraternal Order of Police.

Premier Tito Draws Cheers

BELGRADE — (INS) — Premier Marshal Tito was accorded a tremendous ovation today when he opened the fifth congress of the Yugoslav Communist party.

The acclaim by the more than 2,000 delegates signified the attitude of the party members who pledged in advance their full support of Tito in the face of severe Cominform criticism.

When he first entered the conference hall containing busts of Engels, Stalin, Lenin and a portrait of himself, the delegates cheered wildly. Tito appealed repeatedly to the gathering to halt the ovation.

N-J Wins Right To Hearing

Court To Hear Appeal On Radio

The United States court of appeals for the District of Columbia ruled today that The Mansfield News-Journal shall have its "day in court" on the ruling of the Federal Communications commission denying the newspaper the right to establish a broadcasting station.

In a decision handed down in Washington, the U. S. appeals court overruled a motion of the FCC which had sought to have the appeal of the Mansfield News-Journal thrown out of court.

The ruling holds, in effect, that the FCC's proposal to dismiss the newspaper's appeal is to be continued for hearing before the court when other legal questions in the newspaper's bid for a station is acted upon.

WILL GET LAMB DATA

At the same time, the federal court granted permission to the FCC to put into the appeals court record information concerning the withdrawal of the Unity corporation (enterprise of Toledo Lawyer Edward Lamb) from the case.

Lamb, who had been assailed on the floor of Congress on charges that he was "saturated and drenched in communistic writings, associations and affiliations" had been granted a Mansfield radio broadcasting license, but surrendered his license after News-Journal disclosures of favoritism by the FCC and of Lamb's writings and affiliations.

While upholding the right of the newspaper to appeal, the court denied the newspaper's plea for a stay order to restrain effectiveness of a construction permit issued by FCC to Richland, Inc., for construction of its proposed FM broadcasting station in Mansfield.

The newspaper took its appeal to the U. S. court from the decision of the FCC which denied the News-Journal the right to build and operate an FM radio station.

The papers charged that the FCC did not follow the established legal procedure in acting upon its application and those of Edward Lamb and Lawrence W. Harry of Fostoria, O., which were consolidated in the proceedings; that the newspaper was deprived of its legal rights by the FCC; that the FCC's action and findings against the newspaper were unconstitutional.

Erie Paper Gets 'No'

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The Federal Communications commission today proposed to deny the Times Publishing company a local radio station at Erie, Pa., because the company owns and publishes a newspaper.

The commission by a 3 to 2 vote held that "an applicant unaffiliated with other media for the dissemination of news and information" should be granted radio facilities at Erie.

In its proposed decision, the commission selected Erie Broadcasting company to receive the grant. The third applicant for the Erie facilities—Community Broadcasting company—was also tentatively denied.

The majority opinion held that all three applicants were generally qualified to operate the proposed station. However, in such cases, it said, an applicant "unaffiliated with other media for dissemination of news" and "whose stockholders are identified with diversified community and business interests" should be preferred.

Gil Dodds Will Go To Olympics

BOSTON — (INS) — Gil Dodds, America's ace miler, formerly of Ashland, O., definitely will go to the Olympic games in London—as a spectator.

A grateful public, which refused to sit idly by and see the "flying parson" left behind because of a sprained Achilles tendon, has already contributed $800 to a "Send-Dodds-to-the-Olympics" fund.

3 Disappear Mysteriously From Home

The kidnaped superintendent of the 1600-acre Ohio State Reformatory farm, his wife and their daughter, Phyllis, 21, were found murdered in a cornfield on Fleming road, about six miles northeast of Mansfield, about 2:15 p. m.

The murdered persons were:

John Elmer Niebel, 50, 1399 North Main street, the farm superintendent.

Mrs. Niebel, 52.

Their daughter, Phyllis, 21.

All three bodies were unclothed. Niebel had been shot in the stomach. First reports did not indicate where the others had been shot.

The nude bodies were found on the R. B. Gardner farm on Fleming Falls road by a pastor and an 18-year-old counselor for a Lutheran church boys' camp.

The pastor, Rev. Herbert Veler of Stoney Ridge, a former Mansfield minister, and Robert Zoeller, 18, of Chillicothe, the camp counselor, were taking 65 boys on a hike.

In head-high corn on the Gardner farm, Zoeller said he saw "something in the field."

Dropping out to investigate, he discovered the three nude bodies. Promptly he returned to tell Veler of the discovery.

Rev. Veler dropped out of the line of march to investigate. Finding the bodies, he returned to the marching boys and told them, as casually as was possible, "It's only some dead hogs."

"I was afraid to alarm the boys," he explained later.

Quickening the march of the boys, the group came to the home of Mrs. John Winger, Mansfield R. D. 2, one-quarter mile from where they had found the bodies.

Mrs. Winger called the sheriff's office and deputies, state highway patrolmen and Ohio State Reformatory officials sped to the scene.

Mrs. Winger informed authorities that she had heard no shots during the early morning hours after the three Niebels disappeared from their home on OSR property.

He reported that he found both the front and rear doors of the house open but no one at home.

Promptly, he notified OSR officials. In the belief that Niebel, who had been in ill health, might have been taken seriously sick, Dr. John V. Horst of the reformatory, and George Allarding, assistant superintendent of the guards, went to the farm.

There they found evidences that strangers had been in the house and learned from a neighbor details of the mysterious visit to the home of a light-colored automobile.

Bureau and buffet drawers were open as if they had been ransacked. Although neighbors said no members of the Niebel family smoked in the house, cigaret butts were found ground into the rugs on both the first and second floors.

Underclothing for all three of the missing members of the family were found in the bedrooms. Shoes and stockings lay on the floor.

PURSES FOUND

On the dining room table, a wallet, containing no money, and two purses were found under conditions that led authorities to believe they had been gone through.

Niebel's eye glasses also lay on the table.

Niebel's automobile and the car owned by Phyllis Niebel were in the garage.

Sheriff Robinson, in the belief that the Niebels were kidnaped, asked for assistance from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and also called for aid from the State Highway patrol.

"It looks to me and to the rest of the boys here as if it were a kidnaping," the sheriff said. "We can't find anything else. The automobiles are in the garage and it doesn't look as if anything had been taken. It looks now to us definitely like kidnaping."

Among the checks that were being made, Robinson said, was a study of the list of former inmates at OSR.

"We can't find anything but the possibility that the Niebels were taken away by someone with a grudge, although he doesn't seem to have had trouble with inmates or to have enemies outside the institution."

Niebel had failed to appear at the regular meeting of reformatory guards at 6:30 a. m. He and Supt. Arthur Glattke were the only regular members of the institution's official staff missing. Glattke is attending a meeting of state prison officials in Cleveland.

At first, no alarm was felt for Niebel. Other guards made few inquiries in the belief that he might have passed up the regular meeting because of the pressure of farm work.

It was about two hours later that Harris visited the Niebel home, situated on Reformatory land, and discovered the family missing.

SON MYSTIFIED

A son, Loyal, a resident of Five Points, told officials he could give no explanation for the mysterious disappearance. Obviously broken up by the sudden turn of events, Loyal joined investigators at the Niebel residence after being notified of the incident by Reformatory officials.

The story of the "mystery" car was told by a neighbor, Lowell J. Snyder, R. D. 1, residing across

Battle Eases In Palestine

HAIFA — (UP) — Fighting in North Palestine slackened today, the third day since the Arab-Jewish truce went into effect.

The heaviest fighting was in the Lake Hule area, around the strategic ridge of El Azzazit. The Jews said Syrian forces seized it after the truce deadline, and they were determined to take it back.

In West Galilee, the fighting was petering out except for isolated incidents. Jewish traffic south of Haifa along the coastal highway still was being hit by Arab ambushes.

Changes Come Early and Often

Issues Make Philatelists 'Stamp-Happy'

NEW YORK —(AP)— "Fifteen million stamp collectors in this country are slowly going "stamp-happy" from a combination of high-priced foreign stamps and U. S. fancy issues now flooding the market.

Within the last six months Congress has authorized 27 special postage stamps honoring such groups as the five civilized Indian tribes, the volunteer firemen, the poultry industry, the Turners society, the Rough Riders and even the founder of the Flanders field poppy. The end seems nowhere in sight.

Harry L. Lindquist, editor and publisher of Stamps magazine and other philatelic publications, says "at the rate these stamps are being offered up in Congress, it surely will become evident even to our congressmen that they are making a joke out of our postal system."

It all started when congressmen began to pass bills ordering the post office department to issue certain commemorative postage stamps. Previously only the post office determined which stamps were to be issued. Usually this number amounted to eight or nine stamps a year.

Stamp collectors are not incensed because of the abundance of new stamps. Most are only three or five-centers and the total cost for all the new U.S. stamps in one year would not be more than a dollar.

It is the "worthiness" of the commemoratives that is disturbing the philatelic mind.

When a stamp honoring the poultry industry, sometimes called the "hen stamp," cackled onto the market, the dairy industry, coal industry and the honey industry asked for similar issues.

"It is obvious," Lindquist said, "that if one industry or nationality is honored, there is very little excuse for not similarly honoring every other industry or nationality in the U.E."

Ban Pitch

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians, said today that Negro pitcher Satchel Paige has been forbidden by the American league to throw his favorite "hesitation pitch."

Tribe Plays New Yorkers In 4 Games

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Cleveland Indians "pennant special" zoomed into New York today for a four-game series in which the Tribe hopes to virtually knock the Yanks out of the running.

The Gotham City sluggers have dropped nine of their last 18 contests, and are three and a half games behind the leading Redskins.

Although they dropped the final game of their Washington series, 2-1, last night, the Indians remained a full game ahead of the Philadelphia Athletics, who also lost to Chicago.

The Indians meet the Yankees in a doubleheader today with Steve Gromek and Bob Muncrief slated to do the chucking. Yank Manager Bucky Harris has nominated Ed Lopat, perennial Tribe jinx, and Frank Shea to oppose them.

YANKS LEAD, 6 TO 5

The two teams meet again in a night game tomorrow night and wind up the series with a day game Friday. In 11 games between the two clubs this season, the Yanks have won six to Cleveland's five.

Last night's game was the third in which one run has decided the victory in the four-game series with the Nats, and the Tribesmen came within a hair of sweeping the four-game set.

With the tying run on third base and a runner on second, the Tribe's Larry Doby sent a screeching liner out to left field—but right into the hands of Gil Coan for the final out of the game, snapping the Indians' three-game winning streak.

The Indians trailed, 2-1, in the ninth when Eddie Robinson stepped to the plate and took three pitches, striking out. Jim Hegan then singled to right and Thurman Tucker, batting for Gene Bearden, doubled off the right field wall. Dale Mitchell then grounded out to make way for Doby's futile attempt to win the game.

ONE IN FIRST

Scoring one run in the first inning, the Indians took an early lead but held it only until the Nats batted in the second and scored their two off Don Black, the Indians' starter, who gave up six hits in an equal number of innings.

The Tribe opened the first with a single by Dale Mitchell, who promptly stole second. Doby then got the second hit off starter Rae Scarborough, who gave up 10 hits, and brought Mitchell across the plate with the first run.

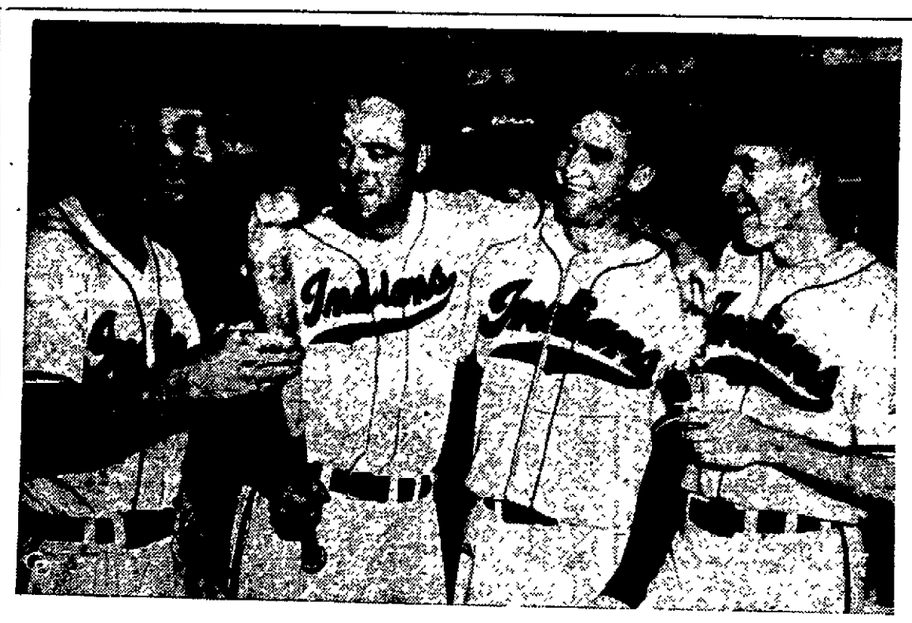
Walks eventually spelled defeat for Black. Gil Coan opened the second with an infield single, stole second, and scored on Ed Stewart's one-baser to center. Black then walked Mickey Vernon, and after fanning Al Kozar, passed Al Evans on four straight pitches.

An infield grounder put Vernon on third and he scored as Eddie Yost shot a single between Robinson and Joe Gordon.

Ed Klieman relieved Black at the start of the seventh after Walt Judnich had batted for him. Bearden was called in to pitch to Pinch-hitter Sherrard Robertson, a left hander, in the eighth with two men on base. However, Washington Manager Joe Kuhel yanked Robertson when Bearden entered the game and replaced him with Tom McBride, who grounded out to Keltner for the third out.

Slated To Fly

NEW YORK—(INS)—Peru's 30-man Olympic team is scheduled to leave New York by plane today for London and the Olympic games. The South American squad will participate in five events—basketball, fencing, weight-lifting, rifle, and javelin throwing.



FOUR GOOD REASONS—Here's a quartet of reasons the Cleveland Indians are leading the American league pennant chase. Joe Gordon and Ken Keltner are the power hitters, Bob Lemon is the top pitcher and Dale Mitchell (right) has been improving fast in the outfield.

Herman Colts and Zitzer's Battle to 5-5 Decision

The Sons of Herman Colts and Zitzer's battled to a 5-to-5 tie in the feature Hot Stove league game yesterday.

Jim Meeting pitched for the Colts while Shelly Swank went the distance for Zitzer's. The Colts had beaten Zitzer's 11-4 last week for their fourth straight victory in the Major league.

Ohio Sport Center romped over Knights of Columbus, 10 to 3, in the same league as Lefty Dick Flockencier turned in a fine two-hit effort. He struck out 11. Miller banged a homer as Sport Center scored in every inning except the fourth.

The Eagles scored 11 runs in the first two innings and went on to defeat Carpenter Busses, 16 to 1, while the Police handcuffed Marine Corps league, 17 to 2, in the Junior circuit. Howell had "3 for 3" for the Eagles.

In the Elementary league, Bushnell edged Brinkerhoff, 8 to 6; Rebecca Grubaugh smashed West Fifth, 26 to 2, and Prospect won over Carpenter, 16 to 9. Pataky of Grubaugh pitched a two-hitter.

Tappan Stove Tops Ohio Brass Girls

Scoring one run in the last of the seventh inning, Tappan Stove knocked Ohio Brass off the unbeaten perch in the Girls' softball league, 14 to 13, last night at the Gorman-Rupp field.

The Brass aggregation had won six straight prior to last night's encounter and outhit Tappan, 17 to 13. A seven-run burst in the top of the seventh knotted the count for Ohio Brass.

Tappan is in second place in the league with four wins in six games. Ohio Brass protested the game.

In the preliminary encounter, Newman handed Prospect its first defeat of the season, 11 to 9, in the Hot Stove Elementary baseball league. Newman won with a four-run rally in the last of the fourth. Deeds of the winners had a home run, double and single.

American League Umpire Suspended By Will Harridge

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The cauldron was bubbling with an intramural American league squabble today as suspended Umpire Bill McGowan denied he had "cursed" or "thrown a ball" at outfielder Ed Stewart of the Washington Senators.

There were reports that American league President Will Harridge was coming here to restore peace, but Harridge's office remained silent.

McGowan, the league's senior "man in blue" and an arbiter in the league since 1925, was suspended yesterday after an official of the Washington club charged him with "cussing out" Stewart and tossing a ball at him during the 10th inning of the game against the Cleveland Indians Monday night.

"If Stewart said that," retorted McGowan today, "he's a liar. It isn't true. I was saying some thing to myself, but I never talked to Stewart."

Clark Griffith, Washington club owner who recommended McGowan as an umpire back in '25, hurried into the argument on the side of his player.

"It was just an accumulation of incidents," said Griffith. McGowan has been going around with a chip on his shoulders."

Joe Louis May Fight One More

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Joe Louis will make one more defense of the heavyweight title, it was increasingly evident today, with an announcement probable next week that he will face light heavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich at Yankee stadium Sept. 22.

Louis announced his retirement after knocking out Jersey Joe Walcott the last time out, but it is significant that in the intervening month the champ has not made it official. He said he would advise the New York boxing commission in writing of his retirement. No such document has been received—or sent.

And with Joe due in town this week end the 20th Century Sporting club headed by "Uncle Mike" Jacobs admits warily that an emissary will contact the champ.

"We hope he will reconsider," asserted Nat Rogers, who returns "any day now" as matchmaker.

Much depends, of course, on the outcome of Lesnevich's successful defense of the light heavyweight championship against Englishman Freddie Mills in London Monday night. Considering that Gus kayoed Mills in 10 heats in 1943, and has improved vastly as a fighter in the last two years, Lesnevich should do it.

There are two excellent reasons why Louis probably will exercise a woman's prerogative and change his mind about retiring.

1. He still could use a few more pesos, as who couldn't.

2. Twentieth Century, his alma mammy, faces a showdown battle this fall with the rival boxing promotion outfit known as Tournament of Champions.

As for the first reason, Louis always has been a fast man with a buck Add to that the fact that his soda pop venture isn't sensational Then too, Joe for all his earnings always has had a large entourage which skims off a lot of cream And, while Joe dislikes the rigors of training he makes money in the ring; while he loves golf, he loses quite a bundle on the fairways, and with regularity.

Also, there is a real bond of affection between Joe and "Uncle Mike," and Jacobs faces a real brawl for patronage with the Tournament of Champions moving in. The rival outfit has signed Tony Zale to defend his middleweight crown against Marcel Cerdan of France in September.

Unless Jacobs comes up with a hot attraction to counteract the growth of the rival promotional group, Tournament of Champions soon may step in and take over.

All facts being considered, it looks as if the Brown Bomber will be asked—and will agree—to belt over "just one more" for dough and for auld lang syne.

Hay Fever Season Brings Assortment of New Drugs

NEW YORK —(AP)— Anti-hay fever drugs are going on the market almost as rapidly as a person can sneeze.

It is because the hay fever season is here, or about to arrive. That is, the worst type—hay fever caused by ragweed pollens.

Two Detroit physicians, Drs. Sidney and Alex Friedlaender, have made an appraisal of eight of the drugs, and here are the findings:

Antistine—Has been in use in Switzerland and European countries with considerable success. Has few side reactions, and may be applied directly to the eye.

Neoantergan—Considered very active. Causes side reaction in about one fifth of persons who take it.

Nechetramine—Has one big advantage in that it is well tolerated; may often be used successfully in patients who are unable to take other drugs because of unpleasant side reaction.

Thenylene—(Also known as histadyl)—No bad side effects unless taken in heavy dosages.

Speaker Warns Parents Protection Hurts Boys

Well meaning parents who attempt to cast a protective wing over their boys frequently steer those very boys along a path of trouble, members of the Mansfield Exchange club were told yesterday.

Thomas Buchanan, public relations man for Smithville Boys' Village, asserted that boys who are protected from official punishment more than once often feel that their parents continually will guard them from discipline for delinquent acts.

"If parents, who find that their children are delinquent, would seek immediate council with juvenile judges or authorities the juvenile problem in Ohio would quickly decrease," Buchanan said.

Juvenile judges, given the opportunity to talk to pre-delinquent boys, easily could correct those boys who might later become habitual criminals.

"The 'death row' at the Ohio penitentiary at present holds 22 young men under 22 who in 90 per cent of the cases never had a chance or proper guidance," he said.

"Rev. Clarence E. Kerr, founder of Boys' Village is faced with a tremendous task in reforming delinquent boys in Ohio and the need for a home for those boys is great," he said.

"Rev. Kerr's greatest problem is not in the financial foundation of the new project but in the financial aid in maintaining the organization," he explained.

Buchanan requested residents of the state to take an interest in the juvenile delinquent problem and investigate the work and problems of Boys' Village.

Boys' Village, located on Route 5, two and one half miles east of Wooster, will hold open house Sunday. Its program will include a concert by the area Boy Scout band at 3 p. m.

Donald Ogden, Exchange club vice president, presided. Frank Berkey served as program chairman.

Gas Supply Cut Ordered

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Federal Power commission yesterFederal Power commission has ordered a cut of 25 million cubic feet off daily natural gas deliveries to the Ohio Fuel Gas company.

The decision was made in curtailing deliveries of the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline company at Detroit. It was designed to ease a middle western gas shortage next winter as much as possible.

Panhandle had requested that it be permitted to cut its gas deliveries to Ohio Fuel Gas from 50 million cubic feet daily to 25 million. It first proposed to make the cut effective last April 16 but two days before that the commission suspended the cancellation notice until Sept. 16.

In its order, the commission agreed to cut, effective as of last April 16.

The commission ordered that 15 of the 25 million cubic feet to be supplied Ohio Fuel be delivered at its Maumee station. It said this will provide the gas required at Toledo.

Other Ohio cities getting gas from Ohio Fuel include Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati and Mansfield.

16 Men Nabbed At Cards

North Main Games Stopped

Sixteen men arrested last night in two police raids on "small time" gambling joints on North Main street were fined or forfeited bonds totaling $420 in municipal court today.

Observers termed the crackdowns as "token raids" resulting from local pressure on official "winking" at big time gambling activities in Mansfield.

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab declined to comment on the raids. When asked whether the raids indicated a change in policy toward organized gambling, he answered "no comment."

The two police raids occurred simultaneously. One group led by Lieut. William J. Taylor converged on the Lucky Billiards hall, 186 North Main street at 10:30 p. m. where nine men were arrested. Three patrolmen raided Ray Shaban's pool room at 224 North Main street where six men were picked up.

TWO FINED $100

Tefik Hysen, 238 North Main street, arrested at Shaban's place and John DaDalis, 454 Springmill street, picked up at Lucky Billiards were each fined $100 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of being a keeper of a gambling place.

Fined $10 and costs on guilty pleas to gambling charges were Albert Abbjee, Club hotel; Willard Starkey, Mansfield; Dominic Valerio; 96 East Sixth street; Artis Defoor, 224 North Main street; Alfred Lee Jones, rear 276 North Franklin avenue, and Howard Clay, 224 North Diamond street.

Walter W. Trumam, 85 East Sixth street, identified by police as the dealer at the Lucky Billiards game and Chester Hazel, 561 Lily street, the dealer at Shaban's place each were fined $25 and costs on gambling charges.

Dwight S. Morgan, 119 West Sixth street; Earl C. Senff, 286 Wayne street; Andrew T. Mitts, Mansfield; and John Symsick, 213 Coul street, forfeited $25 bonds on gambling charges. They failed to appear to answer the charges.

Charles James, 223 North Adams street and Dempsey Johnson, 113 North Main street, were fined $5 and costs for loitering.

$2 IN POT

Police testimony revealed that there was $2 in the "pot" at the Lucky Billiards hall game and $11.40 at the game at 224 North Main street

Last night's raids were apparently not part of any sweeping crackdown on gambling. Punchboards were still in evidence this

Truman Will Air Program

WASHINGTON —(UP)— President Truman will present his legislative program to the special session of Congress in person at 11 a. m. (EST) next Tuesday.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said today the President will deliver his message to a joint session of the House and Senate on the second day of the special session.

The timing of his appearance was worked out in consultation with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders.

At the same time, Ross told reporters that Mr. Truman would not ask Congress "to go off on any wild goose chase."

"Obviously he is not asking Congress to enact the Republican platform," Ross said. But he said that as "a matter of fact," several proposals which the President will make to the special session are included in the Democratic platform for 1948.

MUNICIPAL FUNDS SHORT

WARREN—(AP)—City employes will face two "payless" paydays here this year unless Warren "gets some help from the state," Frank Fabrizio, chairman of city council's finance committee, warned today.

12 U. S. Top Reds Indicted

NEW YORK— (AP) — Twelve communist leaders, representing the party's high command in America, were under indictment today on charges of advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Seven of the 12—including William Z. Foster, national chairman of the party in the United States, and Eugene V. Dennis, general secretary — were arrested last night shortly after their indictment by a federal grand jury investigating subversive activities. The other five are being sought.

The arrests, one of the sharpest blows yet struck against organized communism in this country, brought an immediate, strongly-worded protest from national headquarters of the party.

It described the indictments as a "monstrous frame-up" and said the arrests were part of a plan by President Truman to embarrass the New party of Henry A. Wallace.

Foster and the others indicted are specifically accused of "conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence.

SEVEN DENY GUILT

The seven under arrest were arraigned last night on the charges and all pleaded innocent.

In addition to Foster and Dennis those under arrest are:

New York City Councilman Benjamin Davis, John B. Williamson, Trade union secretary for the party; Henry Winston, party organizational secretary; Jacob Stachel, educational secretary for the party, and Carl Winters, chairman of the Michigan state council of the party.

Winters was seized in Detroit; the others in New York City.

The five being sought were identified as:

Indicted Red Defended By Lawyer Lamb

Gus Hall of Cleveland, chairman of the Ohio Communist party and one of 12 communist party leaders named in federal indictments, was one of seven men defended by Toledo Lawyer Edward Lamb in criminal proceedings resulting from the bloody "Little Steel" strike in Warren, O., in 1937.

The Atty. Edward Lamb who appeared as counsel for Gus Hall when the Ohio communist leader pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing explosives during the steel strike in Warren is the same Edward Lamb who received and then surrendered a license to operate a radio station in Mansfield.

He is the same Toledo lawyer whose receipt of five radio licenses in two weeks from the Federal Communications commission resulted in disclosure by the News-Journal which figured prominently in action by Congress, which now has under way an investigation of the FCC and its licensing practices.

Testimony was presented before the Dies committee in 1938 that Hall directed the Warren steel strike, that he usurped authority of the police, stopped the U. S. mails and gave orders to dynamite squads, according to a New York dispatch from International News Service.

Lamb, then listed as attorney for the CIO, defended Hall and seven others in the criminal proceedings in Trumbull county (Warren)common pleas court. Hall was fined $500, four others were sentenced to prison, and three others were placed on probation after all pleaded guilty to charges growing out of strike disorders.

The family nest was discovered while the new arrivals were in the egg-stage by George Streby, maintenance foreman at the Soy Products company. He guarded them in their home nearly 100 feet above ground, with the help of Mama and Papa Owl. Two other youngsters in the group of seven owlets did not appear for the family photo. Inset shows a close-up of one of owls. They are of the breed known as "monkey-faced."

Court Skips Wallace Ban

Delays Action On Ballot Issue

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Ohio Supreme court failed to rule today on a mandamus action which seeks to compel Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel to place the name of Henry A. Wallace on the Ohio ballot as a presidential candidate in November.

Failure of the court to hand down a ruling on its weekly decision day ended the necessity for action by Governor Herbert on the Wallace question.

A source close to the governor had indicated the chief executive might have the law changed at tomorrow's special session of the legislature if the high court ruled against the third party candidate.

Meanwhile, in Philadelphia, platform makers of Wallace's third party took the spotlight today in a prelude to the opening Friday night of the new political organization's "people's" convention.

Open hearings on the platform were to be held tonight and tomorrow at convention hall by a 53-member resolutions committee headed by Rexford G. Tugwell, University of Chicago professor and a former New Deal "brain-truster."

Youth Loses Death Plea

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Death in the electric chair was decreed by the Ohio Supreme court today for Donald E. Frohner, teen-aged hitch-hike slayer of Youngstown.

The court affirmed Frohner's conviction in Mahoning county courts and fixed Aug. 20 as the date of his execution.

Frohner, then 16, and 17-year-old Arthur N. Chapman, classmates at Youngstown South High school, were found guilty of beating to death William C. Speeth on Route 62 near Youngstown while attempting to steal his auto.

The two boys were found guilty by a three-judge court which ruled that Frohner had delivered the death blows. Chapman, who was extended mercy, was given a life term.

Frohner's attorneys appealed on the ground he was too young to know the implication of waiving a trial by jury.

King Cobra Kills Owner

LONG BEACH, Cal.—(INS)—The "snake woman", who had favorite names for each of her hundreds of reptiles, is dead today, victim of one of her pets.

Before the horrified eyes of two spectators 58-year-old Grace Wiley was bitten late yesterday by her prize possession—a king cobra.

The woman, who made a small fortune in renting her pets to Hollywood film studios, died minutes later at a hospital.

Fellow Officers Seek Salary Hike

City Patrolman Quits For Higher Pay Job

A city policeman resigned today to take what he called "a better job with more pay." His resignation came at a time that other members of the police force are planning to carry before the people in November election their plea for a pay increase.

Patrolman Arlo Garver, of 20 North Glenn avenue, a city policeman since May 1946, submitted his resignation, effective Aug. 16.

ARLO GARVER

Garver, assigned to the traffic department, declined to say just what his new job would be. "I will remain in Mansfield, however," he said.

Earl Garrison, director of public safety, said the vacancy would be filled from a list of eligible applicants approved by the Civil Service commission. Tom Woodard, chairman of the commission, said examinations would not be necessary since there were sufficient eligible men on the list.

ESCAPED DEATH

Garver won high praise from his superior officers for his behavior during a shooting incident Dec. 28, 1947, when Dominic Sgambellone fired at him from point-blank range after calling the officer to his auto. Garver's life was saved when the assailant's pistol misfired.

Garver shot from an awkward position, hitting Sgambellone three times. The patrolman then arrested Sgambellone and took him to the station.

Sgambellone pleaded guilty in Common Pleas court Jan. 28, to assault with intent to kill and was sentenced to one to 15 years in the penitentiary.

Garver was born in Lexington, but had lived in Mansfield for 13 years. He attended Mansfield High school.

He was in the Army for three and one-half years, two and one-half of which were spent overseas with the 82nd airborne division. He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Fraternal Order of Police.

When he first entered the conference hall containing busts of Engels, Stalin, Lenin and a portrait of himself, the delegates cheered wildly. Tito appealed repeatedly to the gathering to halt the ovation.

N-J Wins Right To Hearing

Court To Hear Appeal On Radio

The United States court of appeals for the District of Columbia ruled today that The Mansfield News-Journal shall have its "day in court" on the ruling of the Federal Communications commission denying the newspaper the right to establish a broadcasting station.

In a decision handed down in Washington, the U. S. appeals court overruled a motion of the FCC which had sought to have the appeal of the Mansfield News-Journal thrown out of court.

The ruling holds, in effect, that the FCC's proposal to dismiss the newspaper's appeal is to be continued for hearing before the court when other legal questions in the newspaper's bid for a station is acted upon.

WILL GET LAMB DATA

At the same time, the federal court granted permission to the FCC to put into the appeals court record information concerning the withdrawal of the Unity corporation (enterprise of Toledo Lawyer Edward Lamb) from the case.

Lamb, who had been assailed on the floor of Congress on charges that he was "saturated and drenched in communistic writings, associations and affiliations" had been granted a Mansfield radio broadcasting license, but surrendered his license after News-Journal disclosures of favoritism by the FCC and of Lamb's writings and affiliations.

While upholding the right of the newspaper to appeal, the court denied the newspaper's plea for a stay order to restrain effectiveness of a construction permit issued by FCC to Richland, Inc., for construction of its proposed FM broadcasting station in Mansfield.

The newspaper took its appeal to the U. S. court from the decision of the FCC which denied the News-Journal the right to build and operate an FM radio station.

The papers charged that the FCC did not follow the established legal procedure in acting upon its application and those of Edward Lamb and Lawrence W. Harry of Fostoria, O., which were consolidated in the proceedings; that the newspaper was deprived of its legal rights by the FCC; that the FCC's action and findings against the newspaper were unconstitutional.

Erie Paper Gets 'No'

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The Federal Communications commission today proposed to deny the Times Publishing company a local radio station at Erie, Pa., because the company owns and publishes a newspaper.

The commission by a 3 to 2 vote held that "an applicant unaffiliated with other media for the dissemination of news and information" should be granted radio facilities at Erie.

In its proposed decision, the commission selected Erie Broadcasting company to receive the grant. The third applicant for the Erie facilities—Community Broadcasting company—was also tentatively denied.

The majority opinion held that all three applicants were generally qualified to operate the proposed station. However, in such cases, it said, an applicant "unaffiliated with other media for dissemination of news" and "whose stockholders are identified with diversified community and business interests" should be preferred.

3 Disappear Mysteriously From Home

The kidnaped superintendent of the 1600-acre Ohio State Reformatory farm, his wife and their daughter, Phyllis, 21, were found murdered in a cornfield on Fleming road, about six miles northeast of Mansfield, about 2:15 p. m.

The murdered persons were:

John Elmer Niebel, 50, 1399 North Main street, the farm superintendent.

Mrs. Niebel, 52.

Their daughter, Phyllis, 21.

All three bodies were unclothed. Niebel had been shot in the stomach. First reports did not indicate where the others had been shot.

The nude bodies were found on the R. B. Gardner farm on Fleming Falls road by a pastor and an 18-year-old counselor for a Lutheran church boys' camp.

The pastor, Rev. Herbert Veler of Stoney Ridge, a former Mansfield minister, and Robert Zoeller, 18, of Chillicothe, the camp counselor, were taking 65 boys on a hike.

In head-high corn on the Gardner farm, Zoeller said he saw "something in the field."

Dropping out to investigate, he discovered the three nude bodies. Promptly he returned to tell Veler of the discovery.

Rev. Veler dropped out of the line of march to investigate. Finding the bodies, he returned to the marching boys and told them, as casually as was possible, "It's only some dead hogs."

"I was afraid to alarm the boys," he explained later.

Quickening the march of the boys, the group came to the home of Mrs. John Winger, Mansfield R. D. 2, one-quarter mile from where they had found the bodies.

Mrs. Winger called the sheriff's office and deputies, state highway patrolmen and Ohio State Reformatory officials sped to the scene.

Mrs. Winger informed authorities that she had heard no shots during the early morning hours after the three Niebels disappeared from their home on OSR property.

He reported that he found both the front and rear doors of the house open but no one at home.

Promptly, he notified OSR officials. In the belief that Niebel, who had been in ill health, might have been taken seriously sick, Dr. John V. Horst of the reformatory, and George Allarding, assistant superintendent of the guards, went to the farm.

There they found evidences that strangers had been in the house and learned from a neighbor details of the mysterious visit to the home of a light-colored automobile.

Bureau and buffet drawers were open as if they had been ransacked. Although neighbors said no members of the Niebel family smoked in the house, cigaret butts were found ground into the rugs on both the first and second floors.

Underclothing for all three of the missing members of the family were found in the bedrooms. Shoes and stockings lay on the floor.

PURSES FOUND

On the dining room table, a wallet, containing no money, and two purses were found under conditions that led authorities to believe they had been gone through.

Niebel's eye glasses also lay on the table.

Niebel's automobile and the car owned by Phyllis Niebel were in the garage.

Sheriff Robinson, in the belief that the Niebels were kidnaped, asked for assistance from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and also called for aid from the State Highway patrol.

"It looks to me and to the rest of the boys here as if it were a kidnaping," the sheriff said. "We can't find anything else. The automobiles are in the garage and it doesn't look as if anything had been taken. It looks now to us definitely like kidnaping."

Among the checks that were being made, Robinson said, was a study of the list of former inmates at OSR.

"We can't find anything but the possibility that the Niebels were taken away by someone with a grudge, although he doesn't seem to have had trouble with inmates or to have enemies outside the institution."

Niebel had failed to appear at the regular meeting of reformatory guards at 6:30 a. m. He and Supt. Arthur Glattke were the only regular members of the institution's official staff missing. Glattke is attending a meeting of state prison officials in Cleveland.

At first, no alarm was felt for Niebel. Other guards made few inquiries in the belief that he might have passed up the regular meeting because of the pressure of farm work.

It was about two hours later that Harris visited the Niebel home, situated on Reformatory land, and discovered the family missing.

SON MYSTIFIED

A son, Loyal, a resident of Five Points, told officials he could give no explanation for the mysterious disappearance. Obviously broken up by the sudden turn of events, Loyal joined investigators at the Niebel residence after being notified of the incident by Reformatory officials.

The story of the "mystery" car was told by a neighbor, Lowell J. Snyder, R. D. 1, residing across

Battle Eases In Palestine

HAIFA — (UP) — Fighting in North Palestine slackened today, the third day since the Arab-Jewish truce went into effect.

The heaviest fighting was in the Lake Hule area, around the strategic ridge of El Azzazit. The Jews said Syrian forces seized it after the truce deadline, and they were determined to take it back.

In West Galilee, the fighting was petering out except for isolated incidents. Jewish traffic south of Haifa along the coastal highway still was being hit by Arab ambushes.

City Employes In Galion Awarded Blanket Pay Increase

Light Plant Expansion Approved

Council Adopts $124,406 Budget

GALION — In rapid-fire succession, city council last night authorized a blanket pay raise for all city employes and approved a six-point program to "preserve and perpetuate" the Municipal Light and Power plant.

The wage hike for city employes, effective Aug. 1, gives firemen and policemen a blanket raise of $20 a month and hourly workers a boost of 15 cents an hour.

The approved six-point program outlined and recommended by John F. Porter, director of public service and safety, includes the purchase of outside power.

POINTS OF PROGRAM

The program as approved follows:

1. Continue the municipal plant and system as the sole source of electric energy.

2. Launch and carry to its completion a program of plant expansion designed to meet the present and future needs of the community.

3. Purchase a block of 3,000 k.w. of power from a public utility for a period of not less than three nor more than five years.

4. Make changes in plant equipment to permit all plant units to operate at higher pressure.

5. Operate the plant at 400 pounds steam pressure with present equipment until new equipment is available for use.

6. Make additions and alterations to the switchgear and distribution system to properly handle the plant loads and convey the electrical energy to the points of distribution.

A proposal to increase the city's water rates and a sewage tax was referred to the service-safety director. Another proposal, introduced by Floyd W. Myers, asked for a city payroll tax. This was also referred to Porter.

Before council adjourned, the proposed 1949 budget of $124,406 was approved. It was pointed out that the new budget requires $6,212 less than the current budget.

Father Kills Great Dane That Bit Son

Sheriff's deputies reported today that the Great Dane dog, owned by Howard B. Cole, 568 Lexington road, was shot and killed late Monday by William Marzetti, a neighbor and father of six-year-old Joe Marzetti who was bitten by the dog earlier that day.

Deputies said the dog was shot while tied in the Cole backyard by a pistol fired by Marzetti from his neighboring yard. The animal had been tied at the request of deputies after Cole reported to them the dog had bitten the boy.

The Marzetti boy, bitten on the back of the head, was treated at General hospital and released.

Deputies said they did not learn of the shooting until late yesterday when health department officials requested an examination of the dog to determine if it was ill. Deputies said Marzetti shot the dog at 6:30 p. m. Monday, upon learning that the animal had bitten his child.

The Great Dane, five years old, was a constant playmate of the Coles' two-year-old son, Mrs. Cole reported.

the highway from the Niebel residence.

Snyder said that about 1:30 or 2 a. m. he noticed an automobile in a side road facing toward Mansfield.

Its lights were dark.

After about 15 minutes, the automobile backed into the driveway at the Niebel home and remained there silently for about 15 minutes more.

During that time, Snyder said, he noticed that the Niebel's porch light went on briefly, then went off.

He noticed the porch light was off because Mrs. Niebel usually turned the light on before the family retired because a bread man visited the house early in the day.

Snyder said he saw no one get out of the car, nor did he see anyone leave the house.

Officers said three firearms were missing from the Niebel residence. They included a shotgun, a .22 caliber rifle and a .38 revolver.

Reformatory officials said that Niebel, in his 20 years of service at the institution, had never been involved in any difficulty. They described him as a "strict disciplinarian" in dealing with inmates working on the farm.

Sheriff's deputies joined reformatory guards in a thorough search of the farm area in the rear of the Niebel residence.

Tire tracks were still visible in the road 30 feet from the Niebel residence as the intensive search of the entire OSR area was started.

Officials said they planned to question an OSR inmate who had been a close friend of the missing farm superintendent in the hope that he might be able to supply information.

They especially wished to learn if any threats had been made to Niebel. Officials said the whereabouts of all OSR inmates released within the last six weeks would be made.

In Columbus, a possible connection was seen between the Mansfield incident and a nationwide hunt being conducted for two former OSR inmates accused of murder.

Columbus police have asked police throughout the nation to hunt for Robert Murl Daniels, 24, formerly of Columbus, and James Coulter West, 22. Both are sought in the slaying of Earl C. Ambrose, owner of a Columbus night club, who was slain during an $800 holdup July 10.

The fact that the car seen by Snyder was a light grey sedan tended to lend some credence to the theory. The two hunted slaying suspects disappeared from Columbus in a light grey sedan.

Niebel's brother, Ray, is officer in charge of the Grafton honor camp farm, which also is under the supervision of Supt. Glattke. He had not been notified of the mysterious disappearance.

Walter Fishburn, assistant at Grafton, said word of the incident had been withheld from Ray Niebel because of the latter's serious illness. Fishburn said the Mansfield Niebels visited Ray Niebel at Grafton on July 11.

J. E. Niebel became a member of the OSR official staff in 1928.

Niebel is widely known in Mansfield. He is senior deacon of Venus lodge of Masons.

Steel Jumps $9.34 a Ton

Congressional Inquiry Likely

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Chairman Jesse P. Wolcott said today his House banking committee will inquire into the reasons for the new steel price increase.

The Michigan Republican said the $186,800,000 a-year boost in prices by U. S. Steel came at an "unfortunate" time. An average increase of $9.34 a ton in steel was announced yesterday by U. S. Steel which traditionally sets the price pattern for the entire industry.

Wolcott said in a telephone interview from Chicago that his committee will want "to get all the facts" about the steel price boost before acting on any legislation designed to control inflation.

When Congress meets in extra session Monday, President Truman plans to renew his request for broad price control and rationing authority. White House sources reported that Mr. Truman will ask for immediate price controls on meat and some other basic foods.

Congress thus far has balked at all administration efforts to write into law a stiff new program to combat high prices. Pressure on Congress will be greater than ever at the new session, however, and the steel price increase may be a factor in determining the type of legislation that is finally approved.

Tax Payers Jam Mail

County Treasurer Charles C. Payne had a broad smile today—because of three desk-drawer's full of letters containing tax payments.

Yesterday was the dead-line for paying without penalty and Payne said he believes the $1,012,000 second-half real estate tax charge probably will have been paid in.

The sum of $25,525 was paid in yesterday, making the total so far, $784,376. A final total will not be ready for several days.

Mansfielder Held

Madison Holbrook, 33, 19 East Sixth street, was slated to be returned to Carter county, Ky., authorities today after his apprehension by sheriff's deputies yesterday.

Deputies said Holbrook was arrested on a Carter county warrant charging that Holbrook issued a worthless check for $100.

Parched Crops To Get Relief

Mansfielders were a bit more comfortable today as the mercury stayed around 74 at noon, but they kept a wary eye on a cloudy sky.

For gardeners and farmers the clouds hinted that parched crops might get a drenching.

Weathermen said the moisture-laden air from the southwest promised the end of a drought in some other Ohio areas. Scattered showers and thunderstorms were predicted for most of the state today, tonight and through Thursday.

Although humid conditions persisted, today's high reading was more than 10 degrees lower than yesterday's high of 85 at 2:30 p. m.

Marion Avenue Light Installed

City workers today installed the new traffic light at Marion and Bartley avenues.

The light, authorized several months ago by city council, is designed to cut speeding on Marion avenue and to provide a safe pedestrian crossing, especially for the pupils at Brinkerhoff school.

One Spoke Missing On Stolen Bicycle

Lorenzo Tolliver, 152 Crystal Spring street, reported to deputies at 6 p. m. yesterday that his blue and white bicycle was taken from the Ritz theater. The bicycle has one spoke missing from a wheel.

Police Stage Token Raids

morning and there was no official indication that a "crackdown" is being contemplated. The last similar card game raid occurred in April.

Meanwhile Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said he has no report to indicate bribery or extortion of liquor agents (or men representing themselves as liquor agents) in connection with organized gambling.

He declared that he had received no complaint about organized gambling and didn't believe there was any "big-time" gambling going on in the county.

And another church group today joined the fight to clean up the city.

Members of the Council of Administration of the First Evangelical UB church Monday night voiced their sentiments concerning the gambling situation in the following resolution:

"We join all churches of Mansfield and Richland county to voice our conviction that gambling is a menace to society, destructive of good government and deadly to the best interests of moral, social and spiritual life. We call upon the officials of Mansfield and Richland county to stop this menace."

Rev. V. C. Stamets, pastor of the church, said he would continue to speak about the gambling situation in his pulpit.

Rotarians See Traffic Film

Advantages of increasing the use of bus transportation as a means of reducing traffic congestion on city streets were presented at Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary club, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel with Louis J. Ott as program chairman.

A color sound film, made for the General Electric company, entitled "Lifestream of the City," showed traffic problems resulting from need of transportation facilities by large numbers of persons, and compared the space required by modern buses with that needed to accommodate private cars on city street.

Food, Trade Gains Made By Greeks

1948 Harvest Will Be Good

ATHENS—(AP)—Greece is making slow, but fairly steady progress toward economic rehabilitation as the nation struggles chiefly to crush the two-year-old guerrilla rebellion.

In the last year more areas have been made secure from communist bands, more farmers have returned to the plow and more farm land put into cultivation. Favorable weather promises that the 1948 harvest in general will be very good.

The 1948 wheat crop is expected to reach 780,000 tons, which is 247,000 tons more than in 1947, but still far below the 980,000 tons produced in 1938.

To meet the consumption requirement, Greece will have to import an additional 450,000 tons—probably from the United States.

The fruit and nut crop is expected to surpass slightly last year's crop of 353,000 tons and Greece will have a surplus of currants, sultanas, and grapes for export. The 1938 crop was 423,500 tons.

The olive oil crop, a potential source of foreign exchange, is expected to be smaller than the 1947 crop. Of 140,000 tons, local consumption of olive oil, a basic food in the Greek diet, averages 80,000 tons annually. While none of the 1948 crop will be available for export, a large part of last year's crop will be sold this year.

Production of edible olives will be lower this year than in 1947, but the new crop should be of finer quality. In 1947, 36,000 tons of edible olives were raised. If 30,000 tons are produced this year, 15,000 will be available for export.

Estimates of this year's tobacco crop are unavailable, but Greece has a large amount of last year's 45,000-ton tobacco crop for export.

Scouts Start Swim Pool

Excavation work on a $60,000 improvement project at Camp Avery Hand jr. began yesterday after almost four years of planning.

The project includes an outdoor swimming pool and a Memorial lodge in memory of 6,500 former area Boy Scouts who served their country during World War II. It is expected to be completed June 1949.

Friends of Scouting in the Johnny Appleseed area donated the $60,000 when financial assistance was requested in 1944.

Mansfield Scouting officials announced that the water lines for the pool are expected to be laid by Oct. 1 preparatory to actual construction of the pool and the lodge.

Dogs Howl, And So Do Neighbors

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. —(AP)— Mrs. L. C. Smith tried to hire a dog-sitter; nevertheless she was fined $50 because her pooches bothered the neighbors.

Mrs. A. W. Johnson testified that when Mrs. Smith was home, all was quiet; when she was away bedlam was rampant, to say the least.

Mrs. Smith presented a newspaper advertisement in which she wanted a dog-sitter two nights a week so that the neighbors could sleep. The ad said she would even give the dogs sleeping pills before leaving home.

Municipal Court Judge Charles Miller decided Tuesday that wasn't sufficient.

610 Gallons of Paint Spread In Schools

Summer vacation for Mansfield public schools doesn't mean a thing for maintenance men employed in the city school system. Some of their hardest jobs are done during the vacation time when children and teachers are sunning themselves at beaches or otherwise enjoying freedom from classrooms.

This summer, Glenn L. Robinson, business manager of the schools, estimated that $3,347 would be spent in painting alone. A total of 610 gallons of paint was purchased. Someone has to put that paint in the right places. That's where the maintenance men, under the supervision of Roy Haverfield, maintenance foreman, come in, so to speak.

The "right places" this summer are six city schools—Prospect, Hedges, Brinkerhoff, Bowman, Woodland and Bushnell.

A work program was submitted by Robinson to school board members before vacation started. It listed all schools, amount of paint to be used, labor and paint costs.

A sample "schedule" went something like this: Hedges—Paint annex basement halls, rest rooms for children, nurses' room, teachers' rest room, and classrooms from 1 to 18 exclusive of Room No. 4. Robinson estimated that 200 gallons of paint would be needed, that the paint would cost $600 and that the labor to get that paint on the right spots would add another $480 — total for Hedges alone, $1,080.

Each school and its paint needs were listed in the same way.

WOODLAND ALL PAINTED

Woodland school is the only one that is being painted in its entirety.

"This school," Robinson said, "will need 80 gallons of paint with an estimated labor cost of $200 and paint cost $240. We use the most paint at Hedges and the least at Bushnell, where we have ordered only 30 gallons—that to take care of halls only."

The total estimated cost for the six buildings includes $1,505 for labor and $1,842 for paint.

Not included in the above list is the Rebecca Grubaugh school, where both inside and out are being painted to conform to the new addition. Outside, window sashes will be painted black with light gray trim. The inside jobs will follow the same color pattern used in all city schools.

PASTEL WALLS

This pattern, Robinson said, includes white ceilings for all rooms and for east, south and west exposures, pastel shaded walls, including a good bit of pale green and for rooms with northern exposures, a warm color such as yellow or its corresponding tones.

In addition to all the paint jobs that are expected to be finished during the summer months, a new stoker is being installed at Senior High school at a cost of $2,500, exclusive of labor.

"But of course we use our own maintenance men," Robinson said. "Then we're renewing the rail around the swimming pool at Senior High school and are rebuilding the steps here at John Simpson. We had hoped to have all three sets of steps done by the end of the summer, but it looks now as if maybe we'll only have the ones at each end."

Eight regular maintenance men, on the job in the city school system the year round, are being augmented by the regular janitors and caretakers from each school in order to get the paint and repair jobs done by Sept. 8, the opening day of school, Robinson said.

101 Polio Cases Reported In Ohio

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The state health department Tuesday reported 101 polio cases in Ohio through July 19. One case resulted in death for 6-year-old Terry Smith of Zanesville.

The court jumped upward with the reporting of 10 cases from nine Ohio counties. Lorain county listed two cases and the remaining eight counties had one each. They were Cuyahoga, Putnam, Marion, Lucas, Hancock, Madison, Portage and Muskingum.

Rise of Dictatorships Predicted

Book Forecasts 'Frozen' Civilization

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, AP Science Editor

NEW YORK—A law of growth of nations, that predicts dictators for the next 250 years, was published today by the Foundation for the Study of Cycles.

This same law indicates that after the dictators there will come a fixed, or "frozen" civilization, probably a happy one, which will slowly deteriorate.

The predictions are for the present Western powers, but without naming any. The end of the happy but "frozen" civilization is foreseen when younger peoples, eager for spoils, rise to end the reign of enfeebled western powers. The younger peoples are not identified.

The title of this publication is Cycles in History, and the author, Edwin Franden Dakin.

The scientific authority for the law of growth is the late Raymond Pearl, of Johns Hopkins university. He found that rats, pumpkins, yeast cells and nations all trace the same kind of curve in their growth.

There are three parts to this curve. One is a slow beginning, second a speed-up in growth, and third a slowed down, quiet period. The curve is the letter S laid on its side, with the first end pointing upward, and the whole letter stretched out from left to right. The curve is like a low plain, and a sharp rise to a plateau.

For nations, the middle part, the time of rapid rise, is when the country is expanding and strengthening in power and arts.

The predictions about western powers, that fit this growth, are those made by the German, Oswald Spengler, 20 years ago. Mr. Dakin says Spengler's ideas were considered almost monstrous, but that now they appear prophetic.

Corn Support Set at 90% Of Parity Price on Oct. 1

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The 1948 corn crop will be supported at 90 per cent of the parity price on Oct. 1, the agriculture department announced Tuesday.

The price will be supported by loans on farm-stored corn and by purchase agreements.

Loans will be available beginning Dec. 1. All loans will mature Sept. 1, 1949, or early on demand.

Purchase agreements will be offered producers by the Commity Credit corporation from Dec. 1 through Dec. 30, 1949.

Under these agreements a producer may sell his corn to the CCC at the loan rate. He need not, however, sell any amount to the agency.

By entering into a loan agreement, the producer who desires to hold his corn is assured that the price he receives will not be lower than the loan rate.

Alleged Slayer Indicted By Jury

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The Hamilton county grand jury returned a first degree murder indictment Tuesday against Harry Herbert Robertson, 33, of Richmond, Va., charged with the slaying of eight-year-old Patricia Jackson.

The child was hurled 60 feet to her death from the Western Hills viaduct last Friday. Robertson said "radioactivity" was to blame for his act.

High Costs Hit School Building Plans

NEED for more money to complete the program for building new grade schools and enlarging and modernizing several of those now in use is another of the natural outcomes of this era of inflationary costs of material and labor.

The $2,111,000 thought adequate for these purposes when voters approved a bond issue proposal in 1945 is now found to fall far short of anticipated needs for constructing and modernizing Mansfield public school buildings, even to the extent of meeting a minimum of requirements.

Increase in birth rate for the past several years, plus other population growth, clearly indicates a considerable increase in public school enrollment within the next few years, and considering the time required between provision of funds and occupancy of new buildings or additions to old ones, it is none too soon to present this subject for consideration and action.

Preparation of cost estimates is a natural first step toward probable submission of another bond issue proposal to voters in the Mansfield school district at the November election, and the board of education is proceeding in this way, so that the public may be fully informed as to the additional money that will be required to expand and modernize Mansfield's public school system to keep pace with increasing needs.

Yes, Patrolmen COULD Enforce Laws

IT WOULD be interesting to learn the reaction of any one of Mansfield's capable and conscientious patrolmen to Mayor Vaughn's quoted statement: "We've got police officials to enforce the law and I believe they are doing the job to the best of their ability."

Don't laugh—that isn't funny. It merely reflects the attitude of a person who wishes to shift a responsibility that is really his.

Imagine, if you will, a patrolman walking into a store where gambling devices of various sorts are openly exhibited and making an arrest after an understanding had been reached with the administration that illegal gambling was to be permitted to return after it had been banned for two months by order of Chief of Police Schwab.

Imagine one or more police officers ascending the steps to the South Main street bookie joint, arresting the operator and closing the place, after it had been arranged that it was to re-open—but that no second place of that sort would be permitted here.

It took no more than notification by Chief Schwab to put wide-open commercialized gambling out of business in Mansfield through February and March. Now it's back in full swing.

We agree with the first part of Mayor Vaughn's statement, as quoted above: "We've got police officials to enforce the law." The second part we would amend to read: "They would do a good job IF THEIR WORK WAS NOT INTERFERED WITH BY HIGHER UPS."

It needs only an order from Mayor Vaughn, as the city's chief executive, to stop illegal gambling operations in Mansfield anytime he wants to—but at the present stage he doesn't seem to want to.

French Do Things In Odd Ways

WHILE IT is virtually impossible for the ordinary American to understand the involutions of French politics, yet what happens to France is of utmost importance not only to us but to all true democracies.

France is literally the keystone of the arch of democracy in Europe. Her governments rise and fall bewilderingly. Through all the changes she seems to maintain the principle that it is the people who must rule.

When the Schuman regime came to power it looked as though the Republic had a reasonably strong middle-of-the-road government. There were those who said that if Schuman could not survive, then France must either go to the left with the communists or approach fascism with DeGaulle. Now we shall see.

It is not advisable to despair too early when the French go into one of their periodic political dervishes. Their system of government is elastic—as it must be with so many political parties. The results may not be so fearful as some prognosticators proclaim.

Stamp To Honor William Allen White

A COMMEMORATIVE postage stamp this summer will honor the late William Allen White, small-town newspaper editor extraordinary and the best-known citizen Kansas has produced. To his genial spirit White added a keen feeling for the underdog, especially of rural or small-town origin, but he was somewhat cool to the grievances of dwellers in big cities.

A rigid Republican on election day, he was, as President Franklin D. Roosevelt laughingly noted, able to see merit in the other side for the rest of the year. He liberalized the thinking of many others who, but for him, might have been unyielding party men throughout their lives.

If a vote were taken on the most important and generally useful citizen of the American small town during the early twentieth century, probably the majority of votes would go to William Allen White. Certainly no one would more deserve them.

One observer presents the idea: "Children are divided into two classes—your children and the mean ones."

Now for the Camouflage.

Congressmen Can Campaign By Action

By THOMAS L. STOKES

THE CRITICISM of President Truman's call for a special session of Congress by Republicans and some southern Democrats that it is "playing politics," the expected and customary retort from one party to another always, still leaves certain undisputed facts in which the public at large is interested, whatever motivated Mr. Truman.

The 80th Republican Congress failed to do certain things it should have done. This is shown not only by an impartial analysis of the record, but also was pointed out by the Republican vice-presidential candidate, Governor Earl Warren of California, in a press conference he held when he first arrived in Philadelphia for the Republican convention. His judgment and ability subsequently were recognized by giving him second place on the ticket.

President Truman has given the Republican party a chance to repair the omissions referred to by Governor Warren and to redeem its platform pledges.

It would seem that the party could do nothing less than accept the challenge. If it does not act now, is there any assurance that it would act if given complete charge of the administration?

There has been a good deal said about how hot it is in Washington in the summer, and what a hardship it would be on members of Congress to return here to work. Governor Dewey, the Republican presidential candidate, said in his first press conference at Philadelphia, in advance of the convention, that he was against a special session of Congress and that such would be "cruel and inhuman treatment" of members of Congress.

This sort of talk is hardly likely to arouse any great sympathy among rank and file citizens who work in hot weather, and many in even hotter places, especially among those who are living in uncomfortable and unhealthful habitations due to the lack of adequate housing which is one of the matters about which President Truman repeatedly has asked Congress to do something.

Nor will such excuses appeal to the millions who are so hard-pressed by inflation, with meat now reaching an all-time high price and the land full of talk about boycotting meat purchases. Congress failed to do anything effective about high prices, though prodded repeatedly. It can do something now.

* * *

Paid By the Year.

THE TALK about the "hardship" of Congress working here in the summer also seems a bit overdone to the million-odd people who lived in this area year in and year out and the several hundred thousands who work in the capital city. Congress has a most pleasant place in which to work. The Capitol is air-cooled and is one of the most comfortable spots in the city.

Members of Congress already have had longer vacations than all but a few specially privileged persons get. As for time needed for campaigning, they can get plenty of that later if they knuckle down here and do what needs to be done.

At any rate, the best form of campaigning would seem to be in action here rather than in oratory from the stump back home—in short, deeds instead of words.

Perhaps the reaction of the average citizen was most concisely expressed in a letter to a local newspaper on another occasion when Congress was so anxious to drop its work and leave here. It was to this general effect:

"We pay them by the year. Why don't they work by the year like the rest of us?"

Of course, the real truth is that many members of Congress, including both Republicans and Democrats, the latter largely from the South, do not want it to be revealed in a campaign season how they are cowed by big special interests which kept them from doing many things for the general public welfare in their regular session, and will try to keep them from doing anything now. This is a story they do not want to come out. This is not an appropriate time to be operating in a glass house.

Lobbyists, of course, must work overtime, too, and in the heat of summer. Perhaps we should all feel sorry for them, but somehow it is not believed they will get much sympathy. Many of them are much better paid than members of Congress.

The Nation Today

Some Good May Come

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — While the politicals beat one another over the head with sticks, the public can sit back, grin and say:

"Well, maybe we'll get some good out of this special session of Congress, no matter what happens to the fortunes of the Democrats or Republicans."

If the special session is really necessary — and if it does something for the general welfare — then the public benefits.

And that's the main point.

Right now the politicians are arguing, with a lot of noise, about President Truman's calling the special session.

The argument goes something like this:

He pulled a cheap political trick in calling the Republican-controlled Congress back into session because he only wants to embarrass the Republicans and build up campaign ammunition for his own re-election.

Or —

He pulled a smart stunt in calling the special session because in this way he can try to force the Republicans to show whether they really mean the promises they made in their 1948 campaign platform.

The background of the special call is simple to state:

Mr. Truman, a Democratic president, last November recommended to the Republican Congress that it do a number of things he considered important.

For example: Give him power to control prices, if and when he thought necessary; set up a big housing program; help education, and so on.

The Republican-controlled Congress ignored most of his recommendations and quit for the rest of 1948 — or thought it did — when it adjourned in June.

So a great many of the Truman recommendations were shoved aside. And, of course, the big argument starts right there:

Were they worthwhile recommendations? Should Congress have acted on them? Was Congress right in ignoring them?

Then the Democrats and Republicans had their conventions in Philadelphia and drew up their party platforms.

* * *

Why Delay Action?

THOSE platforms, as such platforms always go, are a collection of promises each party said it would work on if it won the election next November.

Both platforms, in one form or another, contained some of the recommendatiins made last fall by Mr. Truman but ignored by Congress.

But the party winning control of the government in the November elections won't take office till next January.

So that means — if no special session had been called — that the party victorious in November couldn't start carrying out any of its platform promises till next January.

And, knowing how slowly Congress works, that would mean nothing done on the big issues till many months after January.

Then Mr. Truman stepped into the picture and, in effect, told the Republicans:

"All right, you said that if elected you'd do a lot of things I've already said needed doing months ago. Why wait till next year to do any of them?

"You control Congress right now. So come back into special session and carry out now — instead of waiting till next year, if you win — the things the Democratic and Republican platforms and myself say ought to be done."

But, going back to the beginning, the main point is this:

What differences does it really make to the public who wins—Republicans or Democrats — or which side gets the most political good out of the special session if that special session does things which are necessary — if they're necessary — for the public good?

At this point it's getting a little comical — or is it sad? — to hear the politicians on both sides arguing about who's putting whom over a barrel.

The only thing really important is the public welfare. A political party's only excuse for existence at all is to carry out the will of the majority and provide for the public welfare.

If the Democrats or Republicans use the special session for campaign purposes, instead of for the public good, then they're trying to hoodwink the very people they're supposed to be serving.

Messages of Friendship From the Air

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to the U. S. secretary for air, suggesting a peaceful use for our B-29s in their maneuvers over Germany.)

* * *

Stuart Symington
Secretary For Air
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

You have now sent 60 giant B-29's to England to maneuver over Germany. This is an important manifestation of American strength and a majority of the American people — including the undersigned—will support you on this. But I should like to make a suggestion as to how you can also use these bombers for a dual purpose.

In other words, while making a demonstration of our latent force, they can also make a demonstration of our latent friendship. In brief, they can help to tell the Russian people the real truth about the peace-desiring people of the United States.

It may be that I am a terrible bore on the subject, but I am convinced that we must go over the Kremlin's head to the Russian people in order to convince them that the United States—contrary to Moscow propaganda—is composed of people who do not want war, even though they will fight if pushed far enough.

As long as the Russian government has no senate, no congress, and, most important of all, no public opinion to hold the checkrein on the Kremlin, our only common-sense policy is to get to the Russian people ourselves with the truth.

When the Moscow radio tells the Russian people that all the great buildings and bridges in the U. S. A. were designed by Russians we can laugh it off. But when the Moscow radio describes us as warmongers threatening to invade Russia, then it's an obvious build-up for a war which the Russian people don't want, but which the 14 men in the Kremlin have to justify.

During the war we spent millions of dollars dropping leaflets, cakes of soap, packages of tea over other nations in order to convince them that we were friendly to them as people (though not to their dictators). This expense was fully justified on the ground that it shortened the war and saved lives.

How much more important, and how many more lives could be saved by preventing war in the first place by going over the heads of the Kremlin and getting to the Russian people.

The state department, of course, is trying to do this in a routine sort of way through its Voice of America. However radio sets are few in Russia and probably only a fraction of the people ever hear our propaganda.

So here is my suggestion.

The 60 giant B-29s you have sent to Europe will have their effect on the Kremlin. Let's also make them felt by the Russian people—in an entirely different way—by having them drop messages of friendship.

* * *

We Have the Balloons.

ACTUALLY the planes will not fly over Russia, so the messages couldn't be dropped direct. But they will fly a few miles from the border over Germany, and the wind currents are such that small balloons released from the B-29s would float over Russia.

The War Assets Administration informs me that it has half a million small balloons left over from the war, previously used for weather soundings. The government has been selling these for 37 cents apiece. In my opinion they could be worth about $3,700 apiece in good will and in war prevention if they floated down over Russia with hundreds of Russians in the villages scrambling for them and talking about them.

Can you imagine the difficulty the Kremlin would have in explaining away these balloons!

During the war, the Japanese took advantage of the weather currents to float balloons all the way across the Pacific ocean carrying explosives. They were balloons of death. We can reverse the process with balloons of friendship.

Furthermore, we can reverse the process with no expense to the government. F. W. Danner of Akron, Ohio, has patriotically offered to print 1,000,000 copies of a message to the Russian people without charge. In addition, Percy Smith of 42 Products, Ltd., Los Angeles, has written me that his company would be glad to supply bars of soap imprinted with a message. Soap is almost as precious as gold in Russia.

In addition, the Schutter Candy company of Chicago has volunteered a million candy bars, while the U. S. Time corporation (Ingersoll) has said it would contribute a number of Mickey Mouse wristwatches over which the Russians go crazy.

* * *

Many Would Help.

THESE are just a few of the people who would be glad to come forward and help their country prevent war. It's not new for people to help their country to win a war, but I find that a lot of people also are only too anxious to help their country prevent war.

In other words, these friendship messages could be dropped over Russia with no expense to the government whatsover, other than the cost of the gasoline to fly the planes—and you will have to use the same amount of gasoline on maneuvers anyway.

One of the surest ways to head off war is to show the Russian people that we, the American people, aren't what the 14 men in the Kremlin say we are.

As long as the Kremlin knows that 180,000,000 Russians will unflinchingly obey the order to march—without congressional debate, without criticism, and without knowing anything about the issues — then war can be just around the corner.

I repeat that all sorts of people, including the undersigned, will be glad to help you with this project so that it won't cost the government a cent. It can't hurt and it may do some good. I hope this suggestion is not presumptuous and that you will let me know what you think of it.

Very sincerely yours,
DREW PEARSON

Washington Calling

Gen. Bradley's Heritage

By MARQUIS CHILDS

IN THE funeral of the soldier, John J. Pershing, is an extraordinary pageant of American history. The breath-taking span of Pershing's career extends from the frontier to the atomic missile and a world utterly transformed.

Pershing began as an Indian fighter against the Apaches in Arizona and the Sioux in the Dakotas. He participated in the extension of American power into the Pacific at the turn of the century, and with World War I he became the leader of America's forces in Europe and an international figure.

To one man in particular walking in the funeral procession, these thoughts must weigh heavily. That man is Gen. Omar N. Bradley. He holds today the office of chief of staff that Pershing held after the other war.

The task that fell on Pershing in 1921 was a heavy one. Against the weight of inertia and tradition he reorganized the Army, abolishing the long outmoded apparatus that had come down from the frontier.

But looking back on that task, the present chief of staff must feel that Pershing's lot was an easy one. The world in 1921 still had a normal, settled look. The weapons then in being were not so radically different from the weapons in use for the past hundred years.

The burden on Gen. Bradley today is by any standard immeasurably greater. The risks that he contemplates, as chief of the Army, are such as no man has ever before had to contemplate in that position of responsibility. It is something that the imagination can hardly take in.

Each day Bradley talks on the teletype with Gen. Lucius Clay in Berlin. He has seen the danger of war grow with the days and the weeks. He has heard the glib talk of those who urge a lightning preventive war with atomic bombs dropped on Russia's political and industrial centers.

But General Bradley is not one to look away from the realities and the awful potentialities of a war with the Soviet Union. With the continent of Europe and perhaps also England occupied by Soviet troops, such a conflict would become, like those scourges of the past, a thirty years' war or a hundred years' war.

* * *

Postponed Extermination.

WITH the new weapons in being, or about to come into being, millions of people can be exterminated. But mass extermination would come only in the later stage of such a war, just as the mass bombing of Germany came three years after September, 1939.

All the energies of a completely regimented society would first have to go into creating the weapons of mass death which exist now merely in token form.

This was in the mind of the chief of staff walking in the cortege of the old soldier who fought the Apaches and the Sioux. The geography of his responsibility has almost no limits. Japan, Korea, China are nearly as urgent in his thinking as Germany, where the crisis has reached the boiling point.

Always uppermost is the consideration of ways and means. Congress approved the draft in a form costly in terms of manpower and money. But a related problem is still to be solved.

That is how to draw a sufficient number of reserve officers back into active duty to train the draftees. At least 20,000 are needed. They have now found their way back into civilian life and they will be reluctant to pull up stakes again.

In trying to build a part of America's military strength, the chief of staff today must work without the fierce incentives of a war for survival. He must in fact work against all the powerful pulls of an inflationary boom that undermines stability and the orderly processes of government.

The simple world of Blackjack Pershing is gone forever. Fortunately the inheritor of the infinite complexities of the present is a soldier with the same integrity and the same honesty of purpose.

Farmer's Diary

Surveying the Damage

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE locusts have done their damage — tender trees, near woods, have been blasted, and stems ripped and scarred. Everywhere one sees dead tips hanging. The earth still is sieved with holes where the seventeen-year locusts emerged.

We did not spray our orchard—having neither man-power, nor money for equipment. Many of the very young apple, pear and plum trees are dead. Some will put out new growth when I have pruned the tops.

A neighbor tells me he has new respect for crows after seeing a flock devouring squads of locusts. Near where crows roost he said the ground was thick with the insect wings.

Those same crows, last year, raided his cherry orchard. No bother this year, until after the locusts were gone.

HEATING and air conditioning of bee hives promises to provide a new approach to the bee business. A California distributor has for sale automatically controlled electric air conditioners and ventilators for bee hives.

Most bee losses are due to poor wintering. Large colonies of bees keep themselves warm better than smaller ones do, but the vigor of a swarm depends upon consuming less honey in order to keep warm. The life of individual bees can be lengthened if they are spared the hard work of warming themselves and they will quickly build up a strong colony in the spring, when the honey flow starts. The best honey is the early crop.

* * *

THE traveling salesman who sells DDT to farmers out our way has increased his trade by spraying barns for his customers as a free service. With one of those Army surplus pumps, he can douse the interior of a stable or shed in short order. Flies and bugs will stay away for a month or two. One good spray every season seems to free the farm of most flies.

Sometimes he sprays attics. Once last spring, very early, he sprayed the unfinished loft of a furnace heated farmhouse, where a few big flies had been buzzing about the windows. Snow was on the ground. Next day the amazed farmer's wife saw green flies polka-dotting the lawn all around the house. It seemed incredible that one dosage had killed so many.

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

Russia's World Revolution Strategy

THE INTENSITY of the battle between democracy and communism, in such important theaters as Germany and Italy, has largely obscured a recent and highly important change in Moscow's strategy for conduct of world revolution.

Communist parties of all countries have been notified that henceforth they are to take the Russian party as a model to be emulated exactly. They are warned to tighten their ranks and conform to "Marxist-Leninist organization principles."

This means that all communists must think alike. It means that the Communist parties or America and Britain and where you will no longer can adapt their policies to local conditions. All must toe the Moscow party line.

Announcement of this startling change of policy was made several weeks ago in the newspaper published in Belgrade by the international communist agency known as the Cominform. The Cominform is widely regarded by objective observers to be a revival of the old Comintern, or general staff for world revolution, which Moscow announced was dissolved in 1943. It was the Cominform which recently declared war on Yugoslavia's dictator, Marshal Tito, for getting out of step with Russia.

The Cominform announcement of policy has been republished by "The Sunday Worker," week-end edition of the New York communist organ, "The Daily Worker."

This development of course signals an intensification of the world revolution for the establishment of communism. It undoubtedly has been inspired by such deviations from the Moscow line as we have seen in Yugoslavia, which has refused to go the whole hog in surrendering all individual rights to the state.

As a matter of fact portions of the populations of all Russia's satellite countries have from time to time kicked over the traces in an effort to hang on to some portion of man's bill of rights. So Moscow is putting the screws on.

Walter Lippmann Speaks

Caution Vital In Berlin

Before we reply to the Soviet note about the Berlin blockade, we should see to it that there is time for thoroughgoing consultation and full consideration among the western powers.

The immediate thing to do, it seems to me, is to take measures designed to avoid collisions, crashes and deaths in the air corridors to Berlin.

For that could make the conflict, which is already so grave and so dangerous, altogether unmanageable and irreparable.

The best chance of avoiding the irreparable incident which would precipitate war would lie, first, in an Allied decision to make a carefully considered reply to the arguments and the proposals which the Soviet Union has advanced, and—then — in advising the Russians through diplomatic channels that since a considered reply will take time to formulate, they will do well to instruct their air force commanders in Berlin to be cautious.

This diplomatic action would provide a better test of Russia's intentions than would a spectacular attempt to pierce the blockade by running an armed convoy into Berlin. For the Russians have said that they want to negotiate. If they mean it, they will readily agree to what would be in effect a "hold fire" understanding for the air corridors. If they will take measures to avoid the irreparable incident while London, Paris and Washington are formulating a considered reply, the door will remain open to the negotiated settlement which they say they want, while our decision to make a considered reply will prove what we want.

There are many who will object to such a course of action because they are under the impression that the allied notes were an ultimatum; that the blockade must, therefore, be lifted unconditionally before there can be any negotiation, and that anything else is a retreat and appeasement.

But the plain fact is that the three western notes about Berlin were not an ultimatum. The French note said expressly that the French government "will make no appeal to force as a means of resolving the differences that may exist between the Soviet government and itself on any point in the Berlin situation." Now when a government, after making a demand on another government, says that it will make no appeal to force, it is saying that it wishes to negotiate.

The British and American notes did not contain this explicit renunciation of a willingness to resort to force in order to compel compliance. But the French note must have had the assent of Mr. Bevin and Mr. Marshall. And when powers unite in a diplomatic action they must be supposed to mean the same thing.

Moreover, it is now reasonably certain that the British government did not regard its note as an ultimatum, as a demand, this is to say, that the blockade be lifted unconditionally and without negotiation. The diplomatic correspondent of the London Times, who usually expresses the official British view, said on July 15 that "if the Russians should propose talks covering a wider range than local disputes in Berlin, there is nothing in the British note to preclude these, although it only offers negotiations on the local issue."

Therefore, since we have not yet delivered an ultimatum, we are not yet stopped by pride, prestige and honor from looking for a negotiated settlement, we are not yet committed to enforce an unconditional compliance.

views of our military authorities in Berlin that we should cross the Rubicon and use force. They should be careful. If there is to be another world war, let it not be begun lightly. For it will not be concluded easily. Let it not be begun on the advice of exasperated men in Berlin, nor decided on the frivolous speculation that the Russians will not fight if we act violently.

Above all, let it never be said of the United States that it resorted to war before it had exhausted the possibilities of negotiation and peaceful settlement. Yet on the record, which all mankind has before it and history will judge, the possibilities of negotiation have not been exhausted.

Our position is that we shall not be driven out of Berlin by force. We have not yet been driven out of Berlin, and as long as we stay in Berlin, our honor and interest are preserved, even though we begin once more, however tedious and disappointing the labor, to negotiate about Germany.

For the question at issue is not whether we shall retire from Berlin. It is whether, while staying in Berlin, we are willing to try again to conclude a general settlement about and with Germany.

LOUIS BROMFIELD LEAVES FOR BOHEMIAN OUTING

Richland County Author-Farmer To Be Guest of James S. Kemper In California.

LOUIS BROMFIELD will embark aboard a special train from Chicago Thursday for San Francisco to be a guest at the world famed Bohemians' outing.

Bromfield is going as the invited guest of Chicago financier and insurance tycoon, James S. Kemper. Also a guest of Kemper is Jouett Todd of Louisville, Ky.

MISS MARIE KALBFLEISCH

* * *

The week long outing is in Bohemian grove, a 2,000-acre tract of California redwoods, on the Russian river, just north of San Francisco. Each year the Bohemia club of San Francisco is host for the affair and invites a group of this country's business, political, and financial leaders to attend the outing and attendant festivities. The Bohemians and guests are scattered among the 100 camps on the tract. Riding, swimming and fishing in beautiful Russian river, highlight activities.

At night there will be camp songs led by Lauritz Melchior and John Charles Thomas, who are guests this year. Also a guest will be Herbert Hoover who never misses a Bohemian outing. The affair will close July 31 when all the guests stage their annual "high jinks," an impromptu circus-like show.

Local Woman To Head Group

Miss Marie Kalbfleisch, 127 West Fourth street, a past president of the local American Legion auxiliary, was named president of the fifth district of the Ohio auxiliary at the mid-summer conference held in Upper Sandusky July 19. She will serve for a two-year term which entitles her to be a delegate to the national Legion convention to be held in October in Miami, Fla.

Mrs. James Brownscombe, 465 Davis road, was named as an alternate to the national meeting.

Thirty women represented the local group at the semi-annual meeting Monday in the Upper Sandusky high school, going by chartered bus.

The fifth district, which is composed of 53 units, was headed by Mrs. G. H. Miner of Medina, who has served as president for the past two years.

There were eight Mansfield delegates in attendance: Mrs. Brownscombe, who was chairman of registration, Mrs. Dwight McCullough, chairman of membership for the conference, Miss Kalbfleisch, Mrs. James Rizer, Mrs. Charles Sanderson, Mrs. Ralph Shively, Mrs. Dale Sams and Mrs. Virgil Hageman.

Miss Kalbfleisch, who served as president of the local organization in 1944-45, has been a member of the auxiliary since 1924. She is also a member of the C. L. of C., Daughters of Isabella, Alpha Pi Sigma sorority and the Business and Professional Women's club.

The fall conferences will be held in Green Springs, Ohio.

Chapter Makes Initial Plans For Style Show

Zeta Rho chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority, held a combined business and social meeting Tuesday night at the Saltzgaber's cabin at Mifflin lake. Mrs. Robert Saltzgaber and Mrs. James Wallace were co-hostesses.

A picnic supper was served first and later Mrs. Thomas Scott, president, reported on the 40th National Convention of the sorority, held in Cincinnati last week. She was the chapter's official delegate to the meeting.

Plans were initiated for the annual bridge party and style show sponsored by the chapter. The date and place of the affair will be announced later. Committee chairmen were appointed by Mrs. Scott as follows:

Mrs. Thomas Wright and Miss Betty Walters, co-chairmen of general arrangements; Miss Marjorie Woodard, tickets; Mrs. Fred Lewis and Mrs. Robert Bonham, tables and chairs; Mrs. Robert Boyd and Mrs. Richard Porch, cards, and Mrs. Lyle Ernsberger, models.

The group also started making arrangements for the province convention to be held Jan. 21 and 22 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Zeta Rho chapter members will act as hostesses to the visitors.

The co-chairmen of general arrangements for the convention are Mrs. Ralph Hanno and Mrs. David Shelley.

The time and place of the next meeting will be announced later.

Dorcas Class Holds Picnic

The Dorcas class of the Main street Evangelical church held a picnic for the members and their husbands Tuesday evening at the Hockett cottage at Walton lake. Sixty-eight guests were in attendance.

The entertainment was group singing around an open fire. Charles Slick gave several violin numbers.

Mrs. Danner Dalton, Mrs. T. L. Hockett, Mrs. Jack Arnold, Mrs. Slick and Mrs. Glenn Grinstead were on the committee in charge of arrangements.

The next meeting will be a mystery picnic on August 17.

Melba Toast may be made from leftover bread; it should be cut in thin slices, spread out on a baking sheet and toasted in a slow (300° F.) oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

Bridal Couple Honeymoon In East

THE REV. T. M. DOWNEY officiated Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the marriage of Miss LaVerne M. Douville and Rudolph John Bauer. The rite was solemnized in the rectory of St. Peter's Catholic church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Douville, 26 Florence avenue, and Mr. Bauer's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer, 302 Second avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a sheer starched chiffon gown with a round yoke and high round neckline. The yoke extended a bit over the shoulders and was banded with Chantilly lace edged with a deep ruffle. The full skirt was worn over a hooped skirt and fell into a long train. At the bottom were two wide ruffles edged wiith the lace. The crown type headpiece was made of the lace with a band of rhinestones taken from her mother's veil. It caught the silk imported illusion veil.

Her loosely-arranged Colonial istyle bouquet of carnations was centered with a purple orchid which she later wore on her traveling costume.

Mrs. Wayne Finley, Milwaukee, Wis., attended her niece. She wore a summer aqua marquisette gown made with a round yoke and high round neckline. Deep folds extended out over the shoulders in a wide bertha. The full skirt was worn over a hoop and was caught up in front with rosettes of the material and orange blossoms. The same treatment gave the effect over the hips. A band of leaves with side arrangements of yellow carnations was her headpiece. The Colonial bouquet was of matching carnations, baby gladioli and rosebuds.

A black sheer print dress and black accessories composed the costume worn by the bride's mother and Mrs. Bauer chose a black crepe trimmed with black satin. Her accessories were white. Each wore a corsage of white shattered carnations and pink rosebuds.

Harvey Blank served Mr. Bauer as best man.

Dinner was served at 5:30 o'clock for 100 guests. It was at the Sons of Herman Hall. The reception for 200 guests followed at 8 o'clock in the hall. The bride's table was decorated with garden flowers and five-tiered wedding cake.

When the couple left for a honeymoon trip to New York by way of Cleveland, the bride was wearing an aqua gabardine suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage. When they return after Aug. 1 Mr. and Mrs. Bauer will reside with the bride's parents...

Mrs. Bauer was graduated from St. Peter's Catholic High school and has been employed by the Tappan Stove company. Her husband is a graduate of Mansfield Senior High school and served 18 months with the U.S. Navy. He was discharged as a Seaman Second Class. He is an employe of the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

COLUMBUS LADY LOSES 40 LBS. WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Mrs. R. Flood, 615 Edward St., loses weight without dieting.

"Before I started taking Rennel I weighed over 200 pounds and was very uncomfortable. I have not followed a diet. I have eaten whatever I wanted to yet Rennel has helped me to lose 40 pounds. My friends are all talking about how much weight I have lost. I am going to continue taking Rennel until I have regained my normal weight."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomforts of being overweight. Rennel is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle, then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product. Insist upon and obtain genuine Rennel.

Speaking for Myself

I note that Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor, the Long Island lady who has informed the world she's looking for a husband with $10,000 is, at this report, still unhappily unmarried. This makes me rather sad—although not, I daresay, as sad as it makes Mrs. Lawlor. If the poor thing wants so badly (and publicly) to become a bird in a gilded cage, it seems only fair that some gallant fellow, somewhere, should oblige by tossing a pinch of salt on her pinfeathers.

All is not lost, to be sure. Mrs. Lawlor still is young, reasonably attractive, ready, and certainly willing, and she may yet catch a suc—oops, I mean husband. But I suspect the long delay in his materialization is due to the fact that her approach is all wrong.

I've thought so ever since Mrs. Lawlor started her trapping expedition into the wilds of darkest Matrimonyland, but I've kept my peace until now, on the theory that I was scarcely the Voice of Experience in these matters. I venture to give forth at this time because my suscicions have been confirmed recently by a girl who should know better than I.

The belle in question is a neurotic and unhappy redhead who possesses considerably more looks, not to mention lucre, than Mrs. Lawlor. She has just divorced her fourth—or is it fifth?—zillionaire, and has emerged from her gelal ordeal covered with glory and greenbacks. All of her husbands were decades older than she, and the handsomest of the lot looked like King Kong with a New Year's Day hangover. Under these circumstances, it is small wonder she has been accused now and then of marrying all her mates for their money.

But recently, her defenses and her hair down, she tearfully denied this. "I've always married for love," she insisted.

There was an important amendment to this declaration that should be noted by all interested parties:

"Of course," she added, in the interests of the whole truth, "I was careful never to fall in love with anyone who wasn't rich. But that's beside the point. Anyway, I never mentioned money. A man may know perfectly well that his bankroll is his chief attraction, but it hurts his ego to have a woman come right out and admit it."

There it is, Mrs. Lawlor, right from the clothes horse's mouth. Maybe it wasn't so wise to tip your mitt by demanding 10 G's, just like that. Maybe a little subtlety would have profited more. Something like, "I want to marry a charming, delightful he-mannish man—and I won't hold it against him if he happens to have $10,000 deposited in a conveniently located bank."

One final suggestion, then I'll leave the whole sordid problem to Mrs. Lawlor and Mr. Anthony. I see that our unclaimed heroine currently is involved in a night club engagement. I do not know of what her act consists, but I think that somewhere in the course of it she should wrap a pert, ruffly apron about her middle, bake a nice chocolate cake in a portable oven right on the stage, and then smilingly pass slices around to all the men in the audience.

The way to a man's heart, you know, Mrs. Lawlor!

Something terribly subversive is happening to those grand old American institutions, the popular song lyrics. Most of them in the dear, dead days when Berlin was the name of a German city and Kern was a vegetable on the cob in Brooklyn, used to be merely dreadful. Today they are unspeakable—literally. Many of them simply cannot be spoken by a healthy, normal adult with the conventional allotment of teeth, tongues and vocal cords.

Some of the old moon-June-spoon lyrics were slightly on the sickmaking side, to be sure, but at least they were composed of words. Now look! Half the songs extant seem to be exotically unintelligible.

One noble lyric, very popular with the jukebox Einsteins, calls upon the singer to make like a dyspeptic woodpecker. Another requires the troubadour to hiss through his teeth in desperate imitation of a windshield wiper. A third, purported to tell of the joys of being a secretary, calls for a clacking parody of a typewriter.

And all this, mind you, before the nation's hardworking singers have had time to recover fully from songs that forced them to depict (a) a cement mixer, puttee, and (b) a leaky faucet, bleepbloop.

There still are enough of the old-fashioned variety of lyrics—the ones with words, that it—to keep our national quorum of carolers gainfully employed for awhile. But some lyricists are pretty lazy, and from every indication they are getting dangerously fond of the idea that it is possible to earn money by setting a few whooshwhooshes, clinkclanks or bingbong-bangs to music, and passing them off as a song.

It's a disease, and it could become epidemic. The time could come when all singers were required by the songs to be either small children not yet old enough to speak, congenial idiots or Reginald Gardiner, who does a fine imitation of wallpaper.

Watch out, Mr. Crosby. And splish, splash to you, Mr. Sinatra.

Horoscope

For Thursday, July 22.

It is probable that some quite unpredictable and unexpected event, with the force of an "atomic bomb," may break open a dubious, crystalized or hopeless situation, with a spectacular clatter and clash. This should restore goodwill and confidence of others recently wavering in interest, and bring things to a head, in which cherished ambitions and dreams may be concretely brought to reality with surprising fruition. Work and plan toward such glamorous fulfillment.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a rather spectacular about-face in critical issues and jeopardized plans, by a sudden atomic explosion, in which congested affairs may be put on a sensationally vivid, hectic and realistic foundation for sound exploitation and long-term prosperity. While erratic or queer situations may be constructive if rationally managed, and as well supported by "the powers that be," the scope and expansion of hopes and wishes call for prudence.

A child born on this day may have a spectacular career, with strange leads from hidden sources. Its eccentric or emotional urges may be circumvented by curious factors.

Survey Shows The Typical Husband

Contrary to popular opinion, the typical American husband is thoroughly domestic; he helps do the dishes 82.5% of the time, helps make the beds 50% of the time, and helps vacuum, scrub floors and wash clothes one-third of the time. In addition, he almost always tends the furnace and totes the garbage outdoors. At least, that's the composite picture given by 200 wives who took part in a survey.

Here are more revelations about the American husband:

He is blond and medium-short, easy to get along with, sleeps in pajamas (all or either half), leaves them lying around in the morning, and doesn't tidy up the bathroom after shaving. He prefers a shower to a bath, but doesn't sing in it.

For breakfast he likes orange juice, eggs, toast and coffee, which he bolts down grumpily. He likes to cook hamburgers, spaghetti and omelets. He's a good father, likes to give the baby its bottle and changes diapers adeptly.

His worst habits: reading newspapers instead of talking to his wife; strewing papers around the house; flirting with other women at parties 40% of the time (but he rarely dates them).

Here are the nicest things he has ever said to his wife:

"I love you."

"I've found an apartment."

"You're the best little wife in the world."

And, one wife reported, "O. K. have it your way; we'll get married."

Children Need Room For Play

Given a home with an active child and no playroom, and what have you? Bedlam, usually. Paper dolls, jigsaw puzzles, games and toys of all descriptions are scattered here and there on the floor, and walking from one end of the house to the other — or just through one room — becomes a major problem.

However, the difficulty can be solved quite easily by fixing up the youngster's bedroom to double as a playroom. He will more quickly acquire a sense of responsibility for his possessions, and with a place for everything, will no doubt develop into a reasonably orderly child.

In furnishing the room, the bed is of primary importance, of course. If a headboard bed is decided upon, it is wise to select one with leatherette upholstery for easy cleaning.

A drawer chest for clothing storage comes next and is best placed near the closet. Plenty of low shelf space for toys is a "must," and the child should be trained to put things back in place when he is through with them. A small table and chairs, a juvenile desk, and perhaps a bulletin board to display his latest drawings make the playroom quite complete—a perfect place to have a wonderful time without getting under mother's feet.

Auto Output Today Hits 2,000,000

Trucks, Coaches Near 800,000 Mark

By DAVID J. WILKIE
(AP Automotive Editor)

DETROIT — (AP) — The 2,000,000th passenger car of 1948 rolled from the auto industry's assembly lines today.

Later this week truck and coach production will top the 800,000 unit mark.

The industry is sharply accelerating its production tempo but it isn't keeping up with the demand for new cars and light weight trucks.

Barring a prolonged work stoppage among the volume producers the full year's output almost certainly will exceed 5,000,000 units. But demand shows no sign of levelling off.

The car makers are well ahead of their showing of last year at this point. The passenger car makers have turned out about 70,000 more vehicles and the truck builders about 75,000 more than they did in the same period of 1947. At present the car builders expect to get as much steel during the remainder of the year as they had in the first half.

They are not nearly as optimistic about the outlook for a steady flow of parts and sub-assemblies from their supplier concerns.

A substantial part has been taken in this year's production upturn by the so-called "independent" manufacturers. While Ford was losing nearly 100,000 units in a model change-over, the smaller concerns increased their output for this year's first half by about 12,000 cars.

INDEPENDENTS GAIN

Commenting on the operations of the "independents," Ward's automotive reports noted that while they accounted for only 9.93 per cent of the total motor vehicle output in 1941, they jumped this to 16.61 per cent in 1947 and to 22.18 per cent during the first six months of 1948.

The smaller concerns, Ward's said, "somehow have been able to wangle requisite materials and component parts better than the 'big three'."

Kaiser-Frazier, Ward's added, "took top honors among the independents for 1947 and the first six months of 1948. This firm got 4.06 per cent of the passenger car business for the whole country in 1947, and stepped the figure up to 5.27 per cent for the first half of 1948."

Ward's placed Studebaker next with 4.74 per cent in this year's first half against 3.47 last year, followed by Hudson with 3.96 against 2.84; Nash with 3.89 against 3.19 and Pickard, 2.59 against 1.56.

The used car market apparently continues firm. The trade paper Automotive News, which has just completed another survey, reports that demand continues to exceed supply for 1948 and 1949 models on the used car lots. (The 1949 models are Fords, Lincolns and Mercurys.)

It adds that "dealers are looking for a strong late-summer, early-fall retail trade" in the midwest and southern areas "when record crops of wheat, corn and cotton come in."

English Eager For Beaver Meat

LONDON —(AP)— Britons have been eating horse meat and even whale steaks in their make-do menus, but now it appears they are eager for nearly any kind of meat.

Laborite T. C. Skeffington-Lodge said today he will ask the chancellor of the exchequer to state how much England is spending in dollars to import beaver meat.

An Important Message To Householders

TAKE CARE OF YOUR HEATING EQUIPMENT NOW

Now is the time to start thinking about your heating equipment for the coming winter. The dealers listed below are all highly reputable and competent to serve you. If you plan to have something done to your heating plant or have a new one installed it will pay you to call one of them now.

Repairs

If you had any trouble with your furnace last winter . . . or your heating system the best and safest thing to do is to get in touch with your heating contractor now. For one thing, if you wait until the cold weather sets in you may find them too busy to take care of your repairs without considerable delay. And then again . . . your heating system may require new parts which may take some time to get hold of. Don't take chances on sitting around in a cold house until your heating contractor can get to you. Have your furnace repaired now while there is plenty of time.

New Installations

While there no longer is a waiting list for new furnaces and other heating equipment it occasionally takes a little time to get special parts. The best thing to do is to call in your heating contractor and let him estimate your job right now. He can tell you what your requirements are and how long it will take to make the installation. If he does the job while he has plenty of time you will get better work and a more efficient furnace. It will save you money in the long run.

Prices

To be perfectly honest about it, we don't know what is going to happen to the prices of heating equipment in the future, but we do know this . . . prices are not going to get any lower. You certainly won't gain anything by holding off on your purchase and it is entirely possible that your installation will cost you more in a few months from now. Be on the safe side and have your work done now.

American Women Insist on Making Their Faces Into False Masks

NEW YORK—(AP)—There must be something that can be done about the great American female face.

The map of Europe is always changing. Why can't women change their maps, too?

They're always promising you they will. They get up and say roguishly:

"Excuse me, I want to go and change my face."

But when they bring it back, there it is again—the same old deadpan they took out with them. Is that a change? Or is it just a case of the man being short-changed?

Let me preach this plea for a change in the great American female face by saying I am no crabbed misogynist, suffering from a lifelong case of frustrated puppy love.

★

I like women. Some of my wife's best friends are women. I have hit the sawdust trail for the gentler sex many times, admitting they are kinder and more intelligent than men. And more dependable in the pinches, too.

But why—nay, thrice why—do they cloak their shining personalities, and their wondrous hidden ways, under the mask of the great American female face?

This is the face they wear in public—chin tilted, eyes glazed, mouth frosted in faint disdain, nose held high as if it were being pulled from behind by an invisible fishhook.

The native American male has become so accustomed to meeting this face on the streets and byways of his land that he unconsciously has come to assume this is the natural expression for a woman to wear. It might be for a Caribbean lady zombie, but for a nice American woman—never.

This great, glacial, expressionless female face sometimes appalls visiting men from other countries. I asked one wise European what he thought of the women here.

"Will what I say cause any further cuts in the European recovery program funds?" He asked. Assured it wouldn't, he said:

"Frankly, they puzzle me. They try extremely hard to dress differently and individually — but they also seem to go to any length to make all their faces look alike. I have difficulty telling them apart except by their clothes."

The gentleman hit his head exactly on the nail, so to speak. Two women who would die rather than be caught wearing the same style hat don't mind at all going through life wearing the same face.

Some meanies say women put on this look because they aren't sure of themselves. Others say they do it to avoid wrinkles.

I don't know the reason. But I do know it is killing chivalry. Any man knows what I mean who has graciously yielded his seat and been stabbed in return, as by an icicle, by the clammy gaze of the great American female face, guiltless of gratitude.

The girls assemble this frozen face the day they turn from bobby sox to nylons, and dissemble it only in old age, when they let their natural warm humanity show through again.

Maybe that's why children and old ladies are so popular.

Summer Vacation Stint Begins; Carroll's Girls Feel Let Down

WHILE WINCHELL RUMBAHS AND SLUMBAHS—The dog-days are here and so comes the annual stand-in stint. Winchell calls that work. To me it's fun. . . . After heavy reporting on two national conventions, turning out froth and fripperies is relaxation and relief.

Though there has been no announcement, my desk is already piled high with letters. . . . From professionals whose livelihood comes from petting piffle into the papers. . . . From people who have grudges and peeves to pay off. . . . From others who have causes to plead—and you'd be amazed at how many hundreds of these there are, ranging into all fields of agitation, propaganda, fund-raising, eleemosynary aims, religious, patriotic, some eloquent, others pathetic.

(Walter Winchell's column will be resumed Sept. 1. During his vacation, the columns of Jack Lait, Hal Boyle and other writers will appear in The News-Journal.)

Earl Carroll's Girls feel he let them down. He had frequently told his beauts, to whom he was fatherly and tender, yet petulant and tyrannical, that he would bequeath his property on Catalina Island for a retreat, with a resort to maintain it, in perpetuity for Carroll chorines. . . . He did not mention anything like that in his will. . . . Of some 2,000 charmers he employed in three decades, there are few now who need charity, but some looked forward to old age in a home provided by and dedicated to the man who died a millionaire because they were beautiful.

★

When Narcotics Agents raided a Chinatown hop-joint, the inmates, who had been mysteriously tipped, had fled. . . . The only living thing within the flat was a cute young cat. . . . It frisked and jumped, was so spry and animated that one of the agents picked it up and put it in his pocket and took it home. . . . But kitty soon ceased to be frisky, grew languid and droopy. . . . He took it to a vet, who couldn't help. . . . But one night he came home with some opium he had seized. . . . At once the cat jumped up, sniffing, then inhaling deeply, and immediately it pepped up. . . . He realized that the little thing was an addict—got a bang out of the weed, which was always present where it was weaned and raised. . . . The tested and found pussy could spot dope or a user anywhere, on the street, or upstairs from the street. . . . Now he takes her along and she hunts like a bloodhound, snorting and pawing and doing tailspins when she whiffs the stuff. . . . He has knocked off numerous places he couldn't have otherwise found . . . But when there are long spaces between, he has to give the cat a lungful.

★

After the Book was sent out to reviewers, Branch Rickey forced Leo Durocher, author, and Ziff-Davis, publishers, to change its first title, "Dem Bums," and make it "The Dodgers and Me." Rickey, a deacon and Sunday school teacher, insisted that "Bums" is undignified. . . . Now that Durocher is working for Horace Stoneham, chief rival of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Lippy wants to change the label back, but the publishers say it's selling well and a change back would be confusing. . . . Besides, the profound opus will be offered in England and other British countries, where "bum" is a naughty word.

Job Seekers At Highest Point In Year

City Still Calling For Outside Labor

The Mansfield labor supply rose 50 per cent during June, C. W. Handley, manager of the local office of the United States Employment service, reported today.

Handley said job seekers numbered 883 at the beginning of July, the largest number since June, 1947. Women looking for work totaled 394, or 117 above normal.

The USES manager pointed out, however, that such a condition was a normal seasonal development due to high school and college students entering the labor picture for the summer months. "The increase is balanced by a relatively heavy demand for workers," he said.

"In fact, to meet the demand for certain types of unskilled workers here, recruitment from outside the area has been necessary," Handley continued. "Inmigrants at nearly all the occupational levels are still finding work in Mansfield industry."

SKILLED MEN NEEDED

"A demand for and shortage of skilled mechanics exists and the situation will be more severe when hiring activities in manufacturing establishments are resumed following July vacations.

"There has been an abrupt decrease in the long-existing demand for women office workers. The need for women production workers is considerably less than the number seeking factory jobs.

"Retail trade employers are solving employment problems by hiring part-time workers."

Openings available at the beginning of this month through the local employment office were varied. Factory jobs called for such workers as die repairmen at $1.30 an hour; body and fender repairmen, and automobile mechanics, $1 to $1.50; foundry supervisors, $1.50 and up; unskilled men, $1.08 and storekeepers, $1.17.

Handley said other production jobs at various skill levels were also open. In the clerical and sales category, there were several commission jobs for solicitors and salesmen and a few openings for part-time men sales clerks.

"Opportunities for women were largely in sales and service occupations," he said. "Jobs for waitresses with weekly wages from $20 to $25 were available and a few domestics were also wanted.

"Part-time work for women sales clerks at 70 cents to 75 cents an hour, and full-time work for saleswomen at $25 to $35 per week plus commission were among the available jobs."

5-Block Pursuit Ends 3-Week Hunt

A three-week hunt by sheriff's deputies for Clyde Delbert Weaver, 37, of 12 Bahl avenue, ended at 7:40 a. m. today when Weaver was apprehended in an alley between Prescott and High streets after giving Deputies Harold Marvin and Foster Palmer a five-block chase.

Deputies said Weaver will be turned over to Crawford county officials today where he is wanted for further judgment and sentence of the court on a non-support charge.

Marvin and Palmer spotted Weaver near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks.

Second Performance Tonight

Children Score With 'Make-Believe'

Players of the Mansfield Children's theater, presenting their second production of the season Tuesday night under the direction of Harold E. McCuen, fully captured the spirit of make-believe which weaves a delightful fantasy in "The Emperor's New Clothes."

The play will be repeated tonight at the pavilion in South park, where the theater training periods and rehearsals are regularly held.

The program included an opening one-act play, "The Fir Tree," given by the smaller children.

"The Emperor's Clothes" tells the familiar story of the vain king who was persuaded to wear garments of such extreme fineness that they actually did not exist.

Bill Schettler, as the emperor, humorously depicted the discomfiture of the king who paraded before his people in underwear because he had been convinced that only persons clever and good could see his robes.

SCALAWAGS PROFIT

The emperor, his court and his subjects, all being unwilling to admit they did not possess these virtues, foolishly praised the garments they could not see.

Meanwhile, the two scalawags who had devised the hoax, slipped away with their profits. Molly Maxwell and Pleasance Kaufman, playing the roles of Demetrius and Rollo, who represented themselves as tailors extraordinary, infected the audience with their laughter and amusement over their scheme.

All in the cast played their parts effectively. The participants, in addition to those mentioned, were Christine Fernyak, empress; Hugh Maxwell, prime minister; Tommy Cook, sentry; John Matthes, court tailor; Bill Hartman and Chipper Ballentine, guards; Alice Peele, old woman; Joan Isaly, page; Valarie Thaler and Penny Zivkoff, mother and child; Noel Huston, dancer; Paula Ackerman, gypsy.

Spectators at the emperor's parade were Donna Friday, Grace Friday, Mary Elizabeth Glessner, Janet Tyson, Elizabeth Ballentine, Sally Kann and Barbara Kann. Penny Schettler and Judy Maxwell combined to make an itching camel led by Carol Lee Robnolte.

FIR TREE' CAST

In the cast of "The Fir Tree" were Suzanne Doubelt, Bee Ann Sites, Joan Isaly, Martha Sowash, Diana Daughty, Sandra and Sidney Simpson, Johnny Peele, Florence Selfman, Gunther Meisse, Thomas Zavelson and Roger Gordon. The tots acted out the story of the fir tree which hoped for a long time to become a Christmas tree, and finally had its wish come true.

Cast changes in tonight's showing of "The Emperor's Clothes" will include Virginia Keller as empress, Margaret Weir as the page, and Carol Jane Ramsey as the mother.

Those serving as assistants to Director McCuen are Barbara Shively, Marilyn Gernhardt, Mrs. Worth Kaufman and Mary Jo Hunter. Others assisting with the production are David Drumm and Frank Stumbo, lighting; Frankie Lane, make-up; Mrs. Norman Hakes and Mrs Paul Lentz, costumes; H. R. McBride and Betsy Cave McGinty, scenery.

'Not Guilty,' Bowers' Plea

Gambling Trial Date Set Sept. 8

ASHLAND — Bartley Bowers, indicted on four gambling counts by Ashland county grand jury, today entered a plea of not guilty at a preliminary court hearing.

Judge H. E. Culbertson set the trial date for Sept. 8.

Bowers listed his address as Mansfield but gave no street number.

Owner-operator of the Sky-High club just outside the city of Ashland, Bowers was charged with permitting the use of dice tables and slot machines to operate on the premises.

The Sky-High club, police said, was a rendezvous for "big-time" gambling interests and attracted patrons from surrounding counties and Cleveland.

FISHING IN CIRCLES—

Neighbors Ira Moorman and Ray Shryock went fishing recently at Charles Mill lake. Their outboard motor was putt-putting them merrily along when Moorman remarked. "What part of the lake do you want to fish in?" Just then a fair sized fish jumped into the boat. "Right here," replied Shryock, "just keep circling and we'll let 'em jump in."

SMALL CATCH—

Five Mansfielders who make fairly frequent fishing trips to Pelee island in Lake Erie returned yesterday with 28 fish. This was a small catch. The same quintet has returned from previous trips with as many as 94. L. D. Bower got the most fish yesterday but Art Kell got the first one. Cletus Leech, Glenn Rinehart and "Bus" Armstrong completed the fishing quintet.

Cash Awards Also Planned

Mansfield area plane owners and flying enthusiasts were alerted today for "the Mansfield Cross-country Efficiency Race and Accuracy Landing Contest."

The event, to be held Aug. 1 at municipal airport, is sponsored by Richland Aviation, Inc.

Complete with trophies and cash prizes to the winners, details of the race were announced today by A. Clayton Tschantz, general manager of Richland Aviation.

"We realize that the more participants we have in the race and contest, the greater the competitive interest and sportsmanship will be," Tschantz said. "Therefore, we are encouraging the owners of airplanes at the port to enter this race and also to offer their planes for rental to responsible pilots who might wish to enter either or both events."

Planned are races for each class of airplane of the same make and horsepower, for which there will be a minimum of four contestants. The accuracy landing contest will be open to any make of aircraft.

Entrance fee for the landing contest will be $5, the first place winner receiving a trophy and one-third of total entrance fees and the third-place winner will receive one-sixth of total entrance fees.

$5, $10 ENTRANCE FEE

The efficiency race will carry first and second-place prizes with the first-place winner receiving a trophy and one-third of the entrance fees. Second-place winner will receive one-third of the total fees. Entrance fee will be $5 for two-place and $10 for four-place.

Dave Robinson will be in charge of the efficiency race, assisted by Virgil Morgan, CAA communications station; Charles Swain, Veterans administration, and Mayor Roy W. Vaughn; official timers, Ralph Disler and Larry Hess of The News-Journal and Earl T. Garrison, service-safety director; official starter, Roy Wittemire, and official gas recorder, Robert E. Rogers.

The accuracy landing contest will be judged by Maj. Robert W. Hall, of the 321st bomb group; Charles Essick, Veterans administration, and Capt. E. O. Morton of the CAP. Elmer Cash will be in charge of the contest, assisted by Lt. George Geib of the CAP as official starter, and Lt. E. C. Pankow of the CAP, as official measurer.

In case of unfavorable weather on Aug. 1, the events will be held Aug. 8.

The race will be open to any certified pilot with a private rating or higher and will be divided into as many separate contests as classes of airplanes entered. Each class must contain a minimum of four airplanes to qualify in the event. In case the particular race is not held, entrance fees will be returned to the entrant.

The racing course will be a triangular course of between 100 and 130 miles specified on a Cleveland sectional chart. More details on the requirements may be obtained at the airport.

Any landing on the course will disqualify the contestant.

The accuracy landing competition will be open to all pilots and types of aircraft. Pilots shall not be accompanied by crew members or passengers. An average of three landings will decide the winner.
